WANTS GOVERNMENT TO ADOPT FIVE-YEAR SETTLEMENT SCHEME

Liberal Member Asks for Expenditure of $20,000,000 to Settle Young Men on Farms—Protest Against "Swivel-Chair Farmers" Handing Out Advice Heard

OTTAWA, Feb. 20 (CP).—A protest against "swivel-chair farmers" handing out advice to men who had spent years behind the plough was made in the House of Commons today by John Vallance (Lib., South Battleford), who for twenty-nine years has been a wheat farmer in Saskatchewan.

Joseph Bradette (Liberal, North Temiskaming), a lawyer and merchant at Cochrane, Ont., started the protest by sponsoring a motion to promote a land settlement scheme, spending $20,000,000 over a period of five years to purchase farms for young men who have been drifting to the cities. He would give preference to boys born on the farms and leave out industrial workers and immigrants.

SUPPORTS WITH WARNING

Although he was willing to support the Bradette motion, the Saskatchewan Liberal protested against lawyers, doctors and school teachers attempting to dictate to farmers on agricultural subjects. There was only one way to make the farm more attractive—through education, and "you might as well throw your money in the lake" as to select several hundred boys indiscriminately, buy them farms, stock and machinery, and expect them to make good

Sir George Perley, acting Prime Minister, offered no objections to the Bradette motion going to the agricultural committee of the House for further study.

SETTLERS WILL VISIT SAYWARD

Representatives Will Inspect Possibilities of Vancouver Island District

Representatives of a group of artisans, mechanics, weavers and farmers will leave Vancouver tonight with J. E. Armishaw, of Sayward, to inspect settlement possibilities of that district, Mr. Armishaw stated last night before leaving Victoria where he was interviewing the Government. The intending settlers, Mr. Armishaw stated, were at present unemployed, but felt that they could, with assistance, establish a self-contained economic group in the Sayward district.

Mr. Armishaw stated he was much encouraged by the reception he received from the Government in his representations on behalf of the settlement scheme. He was also continuing his fight for the completion of the road from Campbell River to Sayward. He advocated that the Government could assist in the establishment of the additional settlers by awarding to them a contract for the construction of the highway.

CAPABLE WORKERS

"Among those who are anxious to help themselves to re-establishment in industry," Mr. Armishaw said, "are weavers, electricians, carpenters and metal workers as well as competent farmers. These people are the sort who, if given a chance, will be able to add materially to the prosperity of Vancouver Island as well as to establish themselves."

He added that he found a stronger appreciation of the necessity for the road to Sayward since his last visit to Victoria several weeks ago when he voiced the sentiment of the district in press interviews and radio broadcasts. He was highly appreciative of the sympathetic co-operation of the Tourist Trade Development Association of Victoria and Vancouver Island in his efforts to extend the Island Highway.

USING MULES TO IMPROVE COURSE

Sir Malcolm Campbell Aiding Nature in Smoothing the Sands of Daytona Beach

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Feb. 20 (AP).—Mechanical forces came to the aid of nature today and with the wind rising and shifting to the northeast, tides boiling over the sands, it seemed likely tonight that Sir Malcolm Campbell would have, within a week, a suitable track on which to attack his present 272-mile-an-hour record for automobiles.

In answer to the Englishman's demands that human agencies take a hand, inasmuch as the natural forces of wind and water haven't improved the rough surface of the beach in the past week, two mule teams, dragging spiked harrows, went to work on the course.

WANT EQUAL DUTY RATES

U.S. Lumbermen to Demand Equalization of Timber Tariffs With Canada

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20 (AP).—Equalization of lumber tariffs between the United States and Canada will be demanded by American lumbermen at the hearings next month on the proposed reciprocity trade treaty between the two countries.

Former Senator C. C. Dill, of Washington, attorney for the West Coast Lumbermen's Association and the Oregon - Washington Shingle Manufacturers' Association, revealed the plans today.

Dill said Canada had a 25 per cent duty on lumber for years, and when the United States placed a slight tariff on the Canadian product the Canadian Government responded with a preferential list, giving advantages to ther countries. The United States duty never has been near the duty collected by Canada, the former senator said, and those tariffs must be equalized in any agreement for reciprocal trade.

NATURE OF TARIFFS

The former senator said there probably would be low tariffs on the Canadian timber products not produced in the United States and high tariffs on products produced in America. Canadian tariffs probably will be similar, low for those timber products not produced in the Dominon and high against those which are common to both countries.

Dill added, however, that there probably could be no reciprocity so far as the lumber industry is concerned so long as Canada gives preferences to other countries.

HAVE NATIONAL PLAN

From another source it was learned that a plan equitable to all sections of the United States lumber industry had been reached within the industry for presentation at the treaty hearings on March 18. Representatives of the industry have been working for several weeks to evolve a programme which could be presented to the tariff commission with the united backing of all divisions. It was said today that such a programme had been practically completed.

CLEMENCY MAY BE SHOWN MEN

Hitler Expected to Give Favorable Reply to Petition for Condemned

BERLIN, Feb. 20 (AP). — Two more German spies doomed to death may be spared the headsman's axe, it was indicated tonight.

Petitions asking clemency for the two, both of them men, have been presented to Adolf Hitler, it is understood, and favorable action was regarded as likely because of the sensation that greeted the execution of Benita von Falkenhayn and Renate von Natzmer, noblewomen beheaded on Monday.

A spokesman of the Ministry of Justice, meanwhile denied that the case of the two men had any connection with that of the women.

NO TRIALS PENDING

The spokesman also asserted that no further trials are pending in connection with the espionage ring alleged to have been headed by Baron Georges von Sosnowski, of Poland, who was sentenced to life imprisonment for inducing the two women executed and Fraulein Irene von Jena, likewise sentenced to life in prison, to betray Germany's military secrets.

An official in the propaganda ministry, meanwhile, denied reports published abroad that fifty-four German spies had been trapped in foreign countries through the activities of Baron Georges von Sosnowski.

Restocking Goldstream With Salmon

Following representations made to the Dominion Government Fisheries Department by local fishing associations 150,000 eyed cohoe salmon eggs were planted in the gravels of Goldstream yesterday. Conditions were reported to be excellent for the placing of the eggs. In the above picture are shown Eilbeck Wilson, vice-president, Victoria and District Fish and Game Association; George I. Warren, publicity commissioner, and representing the Victoria and Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association; E. Castley, superintendent of the Cowichan Lake hatchery; Major R. G. Monteith, president of the Victoria and District Fish and Game Association, and chairman of the Fisheries Committee of the Tourist Trade Development Association of Victoria and Vancouver Island. These interested fishermen were snapped as they watched two Fisheries Department men planting the eggs in the stream.

Will Make Statement in House on Anglo-Soviet Timber Contract

LONDON, Feb. 20 (CP).—Walter Runciman, President of the Board of Trade, will make a statement in the House of Commons tomorrow on the contract drawn up by Timber Distributors, Ltd., for importation this year of 400,000 standards of Russian timber.

It was learned today the British Government has received an official protest from the Canadian Government with regard to the agreement. The Canadian contention in regard to this contract is that the Soviet Government is frustrating the British preference on Canadian timber, it was said.

Mothers' Pensions Will Be Increased House Is Informed

Provincial Employment of All Teachers to Exclusion of School Board Appointments Advocated in Legislature During Continued Debate

INCREASED mothers' allowances, Provincial engagement of teachers, a placement bureau for youths, closure of salmon fishing for five years, a programme of road and building construction, social insurances, and abandonment of the proposed toll bridge over the Fraser River, were among issues raised in the Legislature yesterday as four members took part in debate. Argument was adjourned by John Price, Vancouver East, who will be followed today by Mayor G. G. McGeer, K.C., Vancouver-Burrard.

Mrs. Paul Smith (Liberal, Burrard), L. A. Hanna (Liberal, Comox), Robert Wilkinson (Liberal, Point Grey) and E. E. Winch (C.C.F., Burnaby) were heard during the day. Mrs. Smith made a definite announcement of intended increase of mothers' pensions during the next six months as the start of a more liberal scale in future.

MRS. PAUL SMITH

Mrs. Paul Smith, the first woman member of the Eighteenth Legislature, spoke from behind a desk covered with flowers, and received a warm welcome. She paid tribute to Mrs. Dorothy Steeves, and visioned the day when men and women would be more evenly represented in public affairs.

Much criticism had been hurled at the Government, somewhat indiscriminately. Liberalism aimed at needed reform in an orderly manner. The debris of the past had to be cleared away, old ideas examined in the light of present facts, and emergency action taken meanwhile. There was neither room for a Hitler

Regent Urges Jugoslavs to Stop Rioting

BELGRADE, Jugoslavia, Feb. 20.—Violence in the kingdom of little Peter II today caused Prince Paul, Chief Regent of Jugoslavia, to break a rigid rule and publicly condemn pre-election rioting which has taken toll of sixteen lives in two days.

For years the young and reserved Prince Paul has refused to give out press interviews. Today, in an exclusive interview, he expressed fervent hope that his people "will see the folly of bloodshed and bullets to gain their ends."

Stevens Proposes Erection of Government Mortgage Loan Corporation

HAS THREE-FOLD PLAN TO IMPROVE BUSINESS

TORONTO, Feb. 20 (CP).—Erection of a Dominion Government mortgage loan corporation to provide credit for a huge, nation-wide construction programme was advocated tonight by Hon. H. H. Stevens, former Federal Minister of Trade and Commerce, in an address before the Ontario Retail Lumber Dealers' Association.

The body would have power to sell its bonds in Canada and, if necessary, have power to guarantee them.

"This government-controlled body would do for the people of the country what those at present in private control are failing to do—that is, provide decent housing for the people," Mr. Stevens said.

HAS DEFINITE PLAN

When he spoke in Toronto almost a year ago, and pointed out the chaos into which business had drifted, he had a definite plan, Mr. Stevens told his audience, and subsequent studies have confirmed the possibility of such a plan.

FISHERY LAWS TO BE REVISED

Recommendations by British Columbia Industry Being Received at Ottawa

OTTAWA, Feb. 20 (CP).—Regulations governing fishing in British Columbia will be revised next month and recommendations from the industry are being received by the department, Hon. Grote Stirling, acting minister of fisheries, today told the House of Commons.

A. W. Neill (Independent, Comox-Alberni) had moved a resolution that the special fishery regulations for British Columbia which prohibits export of fresh sockeye salmon be rescinded. Mr. Neill claimed that special conditions which made the embargo advisable had disappeared. Today, fishermen from British Columbia and the State of Washington both fished with seines, and both Canada and United States forbade use of trap nets.

SENT TO COMMITTEE

Canadian packers bought sockeye salmon from United States fishermen when the price was lower in Seattle than in Vancouver, and Canadian fishermen should have equal right to sell in Seattle if the price was higher. As only a few minutes were available for discussion Mr. Neill asked that the resolution be allowed to go to the fisheries committee. Thomas Reid (Liberal, New Westminster) supported Mr. Neill.

The minister agreed to the proposal and the resolution was sent to the committee on a motion by H. A. Barber (Conservative, Fraser Valley).

ARE READY TO BUILD STRATOSPHERE PLANES

LONDON, Feb. 20 (AP). — The Daily Mail said tonight two British aircraft firms were ready to submit plans to the Air Ministry for a stratosphere plane reportedly "capable of assaulting regions yet untouched by airplanes."

The paper said the plans were the result of [illegible] years of research work. It was claimed the machines could climb to an altitude of 60,000 feet with a newly-perfected supercharger.

B.C. Sales Tax Is Not Sought At This Session

BRITISH Columbia will not seek to impose a sales or turnover tax at this session, Hon. John Hart intimated yesterday. The Province hopes to discuss such a tax with Ottawa at a subsequent conference on the B.N.A. Act, after both Parliaments have adjourned. Federal authority must precede introduction of a British Columbia measure, Mr. Hart said.

Vancouver Detective Suspended

VANCOUVER, Feb. 20 (CP).—Detective Robert Tisdale, of the morality squad, was indefinitely suspended pending investigation, Chief W. W. Foster announced today.

Shortly after Mayor G. G. McGeer appointed Colonel Foster as chief constable succeeding John Cameron who resigned, seventeen officers of the force were suspended. Subsequently twelve of those suspended were dismissed and the others reinstated with demotions.

ASKS TWO-YEAR NRA EXTENSION

President Advocates Tighter Anti-Monopoly Regulations in Message to Congress

WASHINGTON, D.C., Feb. 20 (AP).—An apparently crystallized Congressional intention of tightening anti-monopoly provisions in the new NRA today resulted in an enthusiastic reception of a special message from President Roosevelt advocating this and recommending continuation of the recovery organization for two more years.

Almost without exception, Congressional leaders praised that portion of the President's message which said, in effect, that additional safeguards were needed against monopolies.

PRESIDENT'S REQUEST

A two-year extension of NRA.

Clarification of the present law which expires in June.

Empowering the Government to establish minimum fair trade practices and labor relations standards

Fixing minimum wages and hours

Barring child labor

More adequate application of anti-trust law principles, outlawing [illegible] nopolies and private price fix[illegible]

Added protection to small enterprises against discrimination and oppression.

Prince of Wales Ends His Holiday

Supreme Defence Council Asserts Any Future Campaign Can Be Fought With Certainty of Adequate Supplies in Every Particular—Meat Production Alone Insufficient

Three Detachments Already Are Crossing Mediterranean

ROME, Feb. 20 (AP).—Italy's supreme defence council tonight promised the nation the wells of war supplies will not run dry as 4,000 Italian troops steamed across the Mediterranean to Africa in consequence of Italo-Ethiopian tension.

Many times 4,000 soldiers are ready to embark at Naples and Sicilian ports.

The council, over which Benito Mussolini himself presides, concluded its fifth session in recent days with this statement:

TO ASSURE VICTORY

"Italy can rest assured that the council has done its duty in preparing in time those indispensable measures so that an eventual war-like effort can be carried out in conditions which will assure victory."

General Italo Balbo, former Air Minister and now Governor of Libya in Africa, and Under Secretary of War Balstrocchi, attended the sessions of the council, which Government circles said were inspired by the Ethiopian situation and Italy's watchful attitude toward possible developments in Austria.

The Fascist Government has liberated the nation from "the bondages of war," and any future campaign can be fought in the knowledge that war supplies will be adequate, the council said in its statement.

Asserting "every particular" of Italy's war needs has been examined, the communique gave assur-

DECISION NOT YET REACHED

Cabinet Gives No Indication of Next Move to Answer Germany

LONDON, Feb. 20 (CP).—No authoritative indication was forthcoming tonight as to what decisions, if any, had been reached today by the meeting of the full Cabinet, which studied the next step in the Anglo-French move to bring Germany back into the family of nations and set the foundations for a lasting peace.

Germany's apparent intention of separating the proposed multilateral air defence pact from the rest of the proposals contained in the Anglo-French communique of February 3, and the question of a visit to Berlin by Sir John Simon, Foreign Secretary, were understood to be taking chief consideration.

OPPOSES DISINTEGRATION

Unofficially it was made clear that the British Cabinet opposes any attempt to deal with isolated parts of the general Anglo-French scheme, holding that all proposals are interdependent and should be dealt with simultaneously. They include the Central and Eastern European accords, Germany's return to the

STORMS KEEPING SHIPS FROM PORT

Gales Raging Round British Coast —Some Low Areas in Scotland Flooded

LONDON, Feb. 20 (AP).—Raging gales buffeting the British coast tonight were delaying several passenger lines and many freighters off the western coast of Europe and the British Isles.

The Ss. Washington, among the ships due at Plymouth today, wirelessed she would not arrive until tomorrow, while the liner Majestic was held at Southampton from sailing at its scheduled hour for the United States.

The Maloja from India, and the Rangitata from Australia, wirelessed that they were encountering battering winds and would be delayed until tomorrow in reaching port.

Winds of [illegible] force swept part of the British Isles, flooding some low areas in Scotland.

Three Invaders Win Way to Last Eight In Golf Tournament

Lee Steil, H. L. Rust and Jimmy McLarnin Left in Championship—Harold Pretty Beaten—Mrs. Gillespie Advances

A TRIO of invaders, two from Seattle and the other from Vancouver, marched into the quarter-finals of the men's handicap championship for the E. W. Beatty Trophy as match play continued in the seventh annual Empress midwinter golf tournament yesterday at the Oak Bay links. The outside contingent is headed by Lee Steil, ranking Northwest player, and Jimmy McLarnin, present ruler of the welterweight boxers, and A. L. Rust, of Seattle.

The remainder of the championship group are Victorians. Four of the visitors came through in the first rounds of the men's open event, while Mrs. Alex Gillespie, women's medalist, advanced to the next round of the handicap championship with a nineteenth-hole decision over Mrs. A. Watson. It was the closest victory in the title flight and puts the qualifying round winner into the semis.

Shooting close to par golf from the first tee to the fifteenth green, where the match ended, Lee Steil, the tall, smooth-stroking Seattle shoemaker, eliminated Harold Pretty, Uplands Club, in the feature match of the open event. Steil won the decision, 4 and 3, and today faces Ralph Whaley, another Sound City expert, in a match which will attract a large gallery. Whaley ac-

FIND TRACE OF INDIAN PYGMIES

Discovery of Fossils Points to Former Existence of Smallest Race

VADNAGAR, Baroda, India, Feb. 20 (AP). — Discovery of fossil remains, apparently those of a human being but fifteen inches tall, and a diminutive cow only three inches taller, led to the belief today that perhaps a race of pygmies once dwelt in India.

Should the find be authenticated, it was considered likely the discovery would have some effect on the current theories regarding the early dwelling place of the human race

PYGMY COW ALSO

The remains excavated include those of a pygmy man fifteen inches tall, a cow eighteen inches tall and a walking-stick ten inches long.

Investigators expressed the opinion that a new field had been opened for study of a long extinct race of small men, much more diminutive than the Obongo, Akka and Batwa tribes of pygmies in Central Africa. They measure between four and five feet.

Sir Grafton Elliot Smith, famous anthropologist, said in London that, if the reports were true, the pygmies would be the smallest race of people ever known.

He declares, however, that a long check would be necessary, saying, "I do not recall ever hearing of a man as tiny as this. The smallest people I know of are the Akkas, of Central Africa, who still exist.

APPROVAL VOTED FOR CONVENTION

Senate Adopts Motion After Long Debate by Four Members of Upper House

OTTAWA, Feb. 20 (CP).—By a vote of forty-five to three, motion for approval of the eight-hour-day convention was adopted tonight by the Senate. Four additional conventions, foundation of the Administration's legislative programme, previously were approved in the Upper Chamber.

Four speakers staged another full-dress constitutional debate for more than three and one-half hours, James Murdoch, former Liberal Labor minister, entered the fray with the declaration that Dominion legislative action would end the "standing disgrace of passing the buck" with the provinces on the eight-hour-day.

Senator Lemieux warmly asserted his stand for provincial rights. Hon. Horatio Hocken (Conservative, Toronto) stated that minority rights would never be disturbed under the steps being taken.

INSANITY PLEA MAY BE RAISED

Sister Gives Evidence of Mental Derangements in Antecedents

BELLEVILLE, Ont., Feb. 20 (CP).—Indication of an insanity plea for Harold W. Vermilyea, charged with murder of his mother, was seen today when defence counsel, in lengthy cross-examination, established that several relatives of the forty-nine-year-old prisoner had become insane or acted in a childish manner.

Throughout the sixth day of his hearing, Vermilyea, suffering from a cold, remained unmoved.

When the mental condition of some of Vermilyea's antecedents was told by his sister, Mrs. J. A. Faulkner, the prisoner sat unperturbed.

SHOWS NO EMOTION

Without any evident emotion he heard Mrs. Faulkner tell of a "change in relationship" between him and herself that began two years ago when the brother requested and was granted $5,000 from his mother, Mrs. Aurelia Vermilyea. A similar request later was answered by the sister, who told Vermilyea in Ontario, California, to stop "bothering his mother."

There was no change in his countenance when Dr. E. R. Frankish, medico-legal expert of the Attorney-General's Department, identified as human bloodstains marks found on the hatchet allegedly used in the attack, and on clothing.

When court adjourned today, there were indications that the Crown would finish its case tomorrow, presenting sealed evidence of an inquiry commission that sat in California.

MOTHERS' PENSIONS WILL BE INCREASED

nor a Stalin in all this, but some sane level-headed thinking now. Major reforms depended on Federal action, and were not being retarded by the Province.

Federal employment insurance was a step in the right direction, possibly stimulated by British Columbia official representations. Monetary values were but the reflection of human values. The immediate problem in British Columbia was to finance adequate employment this Spring and Summer. Permanent damage was being done by keeping young men in enforced idleness in camps.

WORKS, 400 B.C.

As early as 400 B.C., Pericles, ruler of ancient Athens, had introduced "a vast project of building and public works" to employ idle men not absorbed in the army and navy of that day. The Parthenon and many another monument to that age had been built as a result. The Government was seized with the importance of a works programme, and was doing all that was possible to bring it about. Preservation of game for hunting, and good roads for travel were essential for tourist appeal.

People everywhere were looking to governments to supply them with a greater sense of security in employment, in their homes and in health. Employment insurance, retiring allowances, old age pensions and state health insurance were the elements of this search for security, and would come.

There was need, too, of slum removal, along the lines of the recent British plan, wherein 200,000 low-cost homes had been built by the state, and 1,200,000 additional houses by private endeavor in a decade. A similar policy, adjusted to the needs of British Columbia, was required in this province.

HEALTH INSURANCE

The security of health was a prerequisite to progress. Normal families could not afford adequate medical and hospital care, and the preventive side of medicine had been permitted to lag for lack of facilities for its proper practice. There had been commissions and inquiries on state health in British Columbia. Many had hoped a Government measure would have been introduced at this session.

Mrs. Smith defended the Government on education. British Columbia had a standard of education second to none in Canada, and was supplying more money for free text books than any other Province. The per capita cost of education, meanwhile, was the lowest in any province west of Quebec.

INCREASED ALLOWANCES.

On mothers' allowances, the Government had moved forward with care. By careful planning, a small balance had been created in funds for the purpose. She was authorized to say that during the next six months this money would be applied to increasing allowances to mothers with children as the first step in an upward scale of pensions that had been all too slender in the past.

Some 1,403 mothers were on the rolls now, of whom 40 per cent were mothers with one-child families. Investigators were necessary, and a plan was under study to develop a placement bureau for pensioners' children over sixteen.

To continue allowances, as previously suggested, in cases where children exceeded the age of sixteen, and on to eighteen years, would cost from $55,000 to $85,000 a year. Much could be done to remedy unfairness in operation of the system, and much was being done along this line. Similarly, representations should be made to Ottawa to remove some of the defects of the present old-age pensions system.

COTTAGE INDUSTRIES

Relief allowances for men and women were admittedly inadequate, but much could be done by women's organizations to encourage self-help among beneficiaries through development of cottage industries along textile and other lines. Vancouver organizations had made excellent headway along these lines.

There remained the men in camps. Mrs. Smith advocated a programme of public works and road building to relieve their condition. The Government was doing what could be done by way of correspondence courses and physical training for the unemployed. Mechanical and technical education was also being given with success.

L. A. HANNA

Mr. Hanna, deputy speaker, brought a cheerful disbelief in the tale of woe laid before the House by Opposition members to bear on a brief, but instructive, speech. If Vancouver was in financial trouble, there still remained people there who stood 700 deep on a waiting list for new automobiles, faster than these could be delivered.

If Victoria had suffered, it should examine its paving contracts of the past, and the peculiar arrangement of quintuplet councils, school boards and police commissions in a small area. Much had been said about the increased cost of government, and but little about increased duties and responsibilities thrust on the state.

The member for Fernie had sojourned ten days in Russia, but would have to admit that British Columbia had not taken to shooting down men, or, as in Germany, beheading women, Mr. Hanna argued.

GATEWAY TO PACIFIC

British Columbia was still the gateway to the Pacific, the new ocean of coming commerce. To his mind, the moratorium law had not retarded construction. There was money available for reasonable enterprises.

Specifically, Mr. Hanna urged the Government to bring in a system of revaluating and assessing property, particularly in rural areas. He suggested enlarged right of appeal to the courts on assessments. The income tax should be increased, and the Dominion asked to retire from wartime invasion of that Provincial source of revenue.

Backed by a petition from Coast fishermen, the member for Comox asked the Government to restore the full right of exemption from fuel oil taxation to vessels of the fishing fleet, faced with stiff enough competition as it was. Fishermen did not use roads nor highways, and there was no just basis for such an impost on them.

British Columbia needs in any reciprocal trade agreement with the United States made at Ottawa should be protected by representations now. Provincially, trade was unbalanced, with little return for the rapid liquidation of natural resources.

GOOD ROADS

Permanent works were preferable to relief expenditures. Good roads were a necessity for tourists, and the highway north to Campbell River should be smooth surfaced, with extension to Sayward. Selective logging gave promise of results, as experiments at Comox showed.

Mr. Hanna urged the Government to take charge of all teaching appointments through the Department of Education. This would broaden education and remove defects in the school board system. Closer inspection of schools and addition to inspectional staffs would also be desirable. As to Socialism, he concluded, a Socialist province in a capitalistic Dominion was unattainable, except in the visions of impracticable men.

ROBERT WILKINSON

Mr. Wilkinson decried "sledge hammer and shotgun finance," and said reconversion of Provincial and municipal loans could only be brought about in an orderly manner, with reasonable negotiation, under Federal plans. Canada's debt was of the order of $9,000,000,000, a condition that would have to be relieved by responsible methods and means, if business were to be revived.

Conversion loans had been made successfully in Britain and Australia, there now being nine issues in the latter country amounting to $1,734,000,000 in all. Despite its debt of $167,000,000, British Columbia was rich in natural resources, and would win its way clear. Coal, oil and other resources remained practically undeveloped.

The Government might well assist mining to the extent of a like grant to that paid in aid of lumber trades extension ($65,000), and should consider a permanent mining representative at London House.

Ex-servicemen were not receiving fair treatment, and many deplorable examples of this were to be found in the Province, where the majority of veterans had come to settle. More than 622,000 men had enlisted in Canada for war, suffering 52,000 casualties. The lot of veterans had been hard since their return. Seamen ashore were also in need of help, while subsidized lines carried Oriental crews.

E. E. WINCH

E. E. Winch, following, said Merritt citizens had been astonished at the contents of Bill 80 at the last session, and now sought some redress. The measure, one adjusting liquidation of an industrial venture by Merritt, contained an option whereby H. C. Meeker could repossess a valuable timber berth, formerly pledged as security to the city. The bill had been rushed through the last session, and was an abiding example of hasty legislation. What was going to be done about it now, he asked.

Mr. Winch dealt with relief and minimum wage regulations at some length, covering ground already traced in the House. He read the last annual report of the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company, pointing to profits made in 1933.

NO NEED OF BRIDGE

Instead of building a new toll bridge over the Fraser River at New Westminster, the Province could repair the existing structure for one-third of the sum, he suggested. For $1,000,000 or less, a permanent structure capable of carrying three lanes of traffic could be made over from the existing bridge, leaving the superstructure out of consideration.

Specifically, Mr. Winch advocated closure of salmon fishing for five years; inclusion of miners' consumption and hernia in ailments remedial through compensation benefits, and a number of changes on relief. He closed a vigorous address of one hour and fifteen minutes with predictions of the "complete collapse of the capitalistic system."

Post of Assistant-to-the-Premier Subject of Legislative Questions

Expenses entailed in the office of assistant-to-the-Premier, before abolition of the post, included $2,304 paid in salary for the position, and $1,371 in travelling expenses, Premier Pattullo has replied in answer to questions asked in the Legislature by R. W. Bruhn, M.P.P. This was exclusive of a salary of $86 per month to a secretary and $62 per month to a stenographer in the same office.

D. S. Boyd, of Dunster, B.C., paid $300 in royalties to the Department of Lands between 1927 and 1933 on thirty-eight cars of fence posts, but did not get a refund, because there was no authority for it, the Minister of Lands states in answer to questions by the Leader of the Opposition.

COMPLAINTS REMEDIED

Complaints as to sanitary conditions in some licensed premises had been made to the Liquor Control Board, and were duly investigated, the Attorney-General states, in reply to queries by John Price, M.P.P.

R. H. Pooley, K.C., M.P.P., is asking the Government about the personnel and expense of official visits to Ottawa since November 15, 1933, and as to the status of Thomas Reid, M.P., in Provincial freight rates matters. Costs to the Crown in the George case are also subject of inquiry by questions.

VANCOUVER, Feb. 20 (CP).—The fourth to surrender to police of the six Vancouver men charged with conspiring to defeat the ends of justice by corrupting police officers, Joe Celona, appeared in police court today before Magistrate H. S. Wood, and was released on bond of $10,000.

Joseph Alvaro, Wally Cole and Eugene Valente were arrested yesterday and obtained their release by posting bonds of $10,000 each. Alvaro, Cole and Valente were remanded to February 28 for hearing. Ex-Chief Constable John Cameron is under guard in hospital, where he is recovering from injuries when he was struck by a sleigh some weeks ago.

The sixth man, Shue Moy, is believed to be in China, where he went on a visit two months ago.

Celona is also under $30,000 bond to appear at the Spring Assizes in connection with white slavery charges against him.

BIG SURPLUS IN S. AFRICA

Finance Minister Announces Eleven and Quarter Millions Over Estimates

CAPETOWN, Feb. 20 (CP via Reuters).—A surplus of $11,265,000 on the current financial year despite a drop in receipts from the new tax on gold mines, as against the estimate, was announced today by Finance Minister N. C. Havenga as he presented the new budget to the Union Parliament. He budgeted for a surplus of $11,250,000 in the coming fiscal year.

Basis of the new taxation on gold mines adopted when the industry boomed as South Africa left the gold standard will not be altered, he announced, but he proposed to levy an additional percentage. Furthermore, mining capital expenditure out of profits will be limited to $7,500,000. The limit last year was $12,500,000.

GENERAL TAXATION

On general taxation, the finance minister said the income tax would remain unchanged. One-cent postage for commercial papers would be reintroduced.

He announced customs duty changes which involve a total remission of $2,250,000. A new customs tariff was necessary to meet requirements of other nations in order that by reciprocal agreement South African products would be helped in other markets, he said. South Africa has just concluded a new treaty with France, and today it was announced that South Africa and the Netherlands have accorded each other reciprocal unconditional most-favored-nation treatment pending conclusion of a definite treaty.

He announced reduction in the duty on coffee, many classes of soft goods, hardware goods used for domestic purposes, and textile, while artists' colors were put on the free list.

EASING THE PROVINCES

The Finance Minister also declared that the Government intended to amend the existing financial relation with the provinces which would involve a sacrifice to the central treasury of $9,000,000 in the year.

Revenue in the financial year now ending amounted to $190,265,000 and expenditure to $179,000,000, the budget showed, both figures being higher than the estimate.

But revenue was more than $17,000,000 higher than estimated, while expenditure was only $9,000,000 over the last budget estimate.

The largest contribution to the surplus, said the Finance Minister, came from the income tax, despite remissions made last year. On the other hand, there was a $5,000,000 falling off in the estimated yield from the gold mine taxation, owing to the working of lower grade ore.

ADDITIONAL RECEIPTS

Customs duties were up by $7,225,000 over last year. Excise yielded $615,000 more; posts, telegraphs and telephones $2,170,000 more, and inland revenue $7,115,000 more.

Exports, the Finance Minister reported, had risen by only $15,000,000, but imports were increased by $85,000,000. Agricultural exports decreased by $5,000,000.

SELF-DEPENDENCE OF ITALY ASSURED

ance that such primary war necessities as wheat, corn, rice and other grain will be available. In this connection it referred to the Italian grain campaign of the past several years, which had made Italy virtually self-sufficient in those foods.

The council warned that Italy still must work on the problem of bringing its meat production up to a basis of self-sufficiency.

However, the communique said, the council felt itself "authorized" to say that as far as liquid combustibles are concerned, the nation could depend upon the developments of science to grant it a wartime "autonomy" through exploitation of its natural resources.

HAS OWN RESOURCES

Furthermore, it continues, the nation can depend in time of war upon its own resources to supply iron, lead, zinc, aluminum, wood and coal.

Meantime, Italy has effected arrangements abroad for acquiring lubricating oil and asphalts, the council stated, while numerous enterprises abroad, under Italian patents, continue to function "with satisfactory efficiency" in producing hydrogen. Through scientific development in hemp, it added, the nation would be able even to clothe itself in the event of war.

Italian newspapers, meanwhile, set up an outcry against asserted anarchy reigning among Ethiopian border tribes, declaring further incidents along the border may be expected at any time.

(The Italian papers carried their reports in the form of dispatches from London, but cables from the British capital said no reports of "anarchy" along the Ethiopian frontier had been received there.)

AWAITING A REPLY

A Government spokesman said tonight Italy had replied to the last communication from the Ethiopian Government, accepting some of the conditions laid down by Addis Ababa for establishment of the proposed neutral zone along the frontier between Ethiopia and Italy's African colonies. Other conditions were rejected, the spokesman said, and Italy now awaits reply to its latest message.

The spokesman said the Government had received no reports of new frontier incidents in Africa.

Pestered by Sympathizers Of Hauptmann

TRENTON, N.J., Feb. 20 (AP).—Three men were on guard duty at Governor Harold G. Hoffman's office today, because of the letters received by the Executive since Bruno Richard Hauptmann's conviction and death sentence a week ago in the Lindbergh kidnap-murder.

The Governor has received 124 letters to date, containing pleas for a new trial for Hauptmann or commutation of the death sentence to life imprisonment. Two of the writers said they had dreams which proved the German carpenter's innocence.

Methods of Getting Market Action to Be Considered —Exports Up

Advisability of proceeding with the proposed scheme for marketing legislation under the Natural Products Marketing Act was discussed on Monday by representatives of all branches of the butter trade, meeting in a closed session in Vancouver.

The meeting went on record as endorsing the adoption of some scheme, which would improve the conditions now existing in the butter and allied trades, and appointed a committee to study the situation in all its ramifications.

The meeting was addressed by J. F. Singleton, of Ottawa, Federal dairy and cold storage commissioner, who spoke on the national situation in the industry.

R. U. Hurford, president of the British Columbia Dairymen's Association, thanked the Retail Merchants' Association for its assistance in endeavoring to bring about a fair return to the farmer. T. M. Carlyle, past president of the Alberta Dairymen's Association, brought to the meeting the greetings of the Alberta creameries. D. K. Gordon, of Kelowna, on behalf of the creameries in the Okanagan district, expressed his appreciation of the splendid move that had been made to correct a condition so seriously affecting the producers of these commodities.

LUNENBURG, N.S., Feb. 20 (AP).—A trans-Atlantic fishing schooner race between the Canadian champion, Bluenose, of Lunenberg, N.S., and the Gertrude L. Thebaud, pride of the Gloucester, Mass., fleet, appeared a certainty tonight.

E. Fenwick Zwicker, local business man, made public a series of cablegrams exchanged during the past few days with the Royal Ocean Racing Club of England, in which the latter said it was "ready to go."

The programme outlined by the club included a race to England, a series of races in English waters during the King's Jubilee celebration and another ocean race when the schooners set out for home.

Races abroad would be sailed from Plymouth, around Fasnet, and finish at Plymouth.

The club told Zwicker it was ready to organize the contest in English waters on August 7 and provide prize money.

ASKING $5,000 ESTIMATES CUT

Esquimalt Ratepayers to Present Petitions to School Board and Council

Declaring municipal expenditures must be reduced, the Esquimalt Ratepayers' Association at a meeting last night in the Municipal Hall empowered Bishop George Lloyd, president, to draft petitions calling for curtailments in 1935 estimates, and present to the Municipal Council and the school board. The association desires $5,000 struck from the combined estimates.

Two resolutions, which Councillor T. Harry Hodgson intended presenting at the meeting of the Esquimalt Council Monday night, were endorsed by the association.

One called for the elimination of the post of relief officer, to effect a saving of $840, by placing the work under the direction of the municipal clerk.

MUNICIPAL ENGINEER

The other resolution demanded the municipal engineer be placed on a part-time basis. While discussing this resolution, the association was told by Councillor F. G. Eaton that "there is not enough work for a full-time engineer."

Bishop Lloyd said he would arrange to meet the school trustees before Monday in order to give them time to reconsider their estimates for the year, before the Municipal Council met Monday night.

Speaking of the possibility of the Municipal Council and the school board agreeing to the demands of the association, Bishop Lloyd said: "Although we cannot do anything if they fail to agree, we will remember it when the next election day comes."

SCHOOL BOARD

The petition Bishop Lloyd intends to present to the school board is as follows:

"We, the president and members of the Ratepayers' Association of Esquimalt, beg to present the following petition and ask that sincere consideration be given by the board to our two urgent requests:

"1. That the board will reconsider its estimates for the year 1935, and eliminate the sum of [illegible] year's surplus, $1,597, from the estimates.

"2. That the board will bear in mind, throughout this year, the purpose of the association is to ask for the elimination of a similar sum, $1,489, for the estimates of 1936, so that, until times improve and the ratepayers as a whole are in better financial conditions, the amount to be demanded by the school board from the taxpayers, through the council, shall not exceed the sum of $25,000. This, with the Provincial Government grant, will give the board about $35,000 as the total cost of our schools in Esquimalt."

URGE PEACE FOR CANADA

Victoria Kinsmen Join in National Celebration of Organization's Birthday

Appeals by national leaders of the organization for united effort by all Kinsmen Clubs to maintain peace for Canada, were read by local officials at a meeting of the Victoria Kinsmen Club in the Empress Hotel, last night. It was "Observance Night," on the occasion of the fifteenth birthday of the Association of Kinsmen Clubs of Canada and, at the same time, all thirty-nine Kinsmen Clubs in the Dominion were participating in similar programmes. The local branch also celebrated the ninth anniversary of its founding.

Rev. Dr. Gerald B. Switzer was the speaker of the evening, and he delivered a stirring address on "Peace and War." Vividly he painted the horrors and tragedies, and called on those present to use every effort to "take the swagger out of war; take the strut out of war, and tear from it its supposed glory."

TAKE GUNS AWAY

He urged the Kinsmen to take toy guns away from children and replace them with blocks and other toys, in order that children would not learn to delight in knocking down tin soldiers and thus, on becoming older, think nothing of knocking down their fellowmen.

"Be globe men, not map men," Dr. Switzer said, in asking the gathering to consider how each country contributed largely to the other's welfare. Science was not the sole right of possession of any one nation, he pointed out.

The tremendous financial and moral losses of the Great War, and the number of lives lost were reviewed by the speaker. If the money spent during the war were available now, Dr. Switzer claimed, there would be thousands for every man, woman and child in Canada.

MESSAGES READ

Difficulty was encountered when an attempt was made to tune in the radio message from Hamilton of Gordon Harbinson, national president, and a copy of it was read to the club by Ainslie Helmcken.

The address read in part:

"Your national executive, upon entering office last September, considered the progress of our association to date, and with full realization of the foundation laid in the past, placed before you a plan containing two features: One, an increase in present Kin membership of 20 per cent, and two, an extension plan, under the direction of the respective district governors, to obtain throughout our five districts a total of thirteen new clubs.

"The successful operation of this plan would enable us to have by August, 1935, a total of fifty clubs and 2,000 members.

FOLLY OF WAR

"At the recent national convention we undertook a national purpose—to awaken the consciousness of our Canadian people to the folly and sorrows of war, with its far-reaching effects on civilization, not alone in casualties and broken hearts and homes—but the sinister picture of those other thousands who live in a world of ghastly horror; insane, shell-shocked fellows who were deprived of their rights to happiness, life, love and citizenship.

"Our national purpose, explained in our slogan, 'Canada for Peace and Kin for Canada,' affords a great opportunity to catch the broadest national view of our service as a Canadian young men's association; it transports us from our local and district boundaries to the complete fulfilment of our ideals of fellowship."

Dr. Arthur Poyntz, past national president, read the message from H. Rogers, founder of the Kinsmen organization. Mr. Rogers' letter reviewed the progress made since the founding in Hamilton of the association. The founder paid tribute to the various officers who had assisted in extension of the work, and said in part:

SERVICE IS KEYNOTE

"Service, the keynote of our clubs, is not, as I see it, simply charity, helping the under-privileged. It is even broader than that in Kinsmanship. It embraces service to the fortunate as well as the unfortunate, to other young manhood of Canada and to our membership itself. It is expressed not only in our sunshine committees, but in our other club committees, our meetings and our expansion activities.

"We have pledged our organization, our service work to Canada and Canada's people."

In an address by Ernest Pearson, Chilliwack, governor of the local Kinsmen district, and read by Dr. B. E. Nickells, greater fraternizing between clubs and members was urged.

George Bailey, of the Vancouver Kinsmen Club, spoke briefly and reported that a club had been recently formed in North Vancouver with Leonard Keyworth as president.

BIRTHDAY CAKE

During the evening, a cake bearing nine candles, symbolic of the local club's nine years of life, was placed on the table and later was cut and pieces distributed to every member.

Commander C. H. R. Slingsby, president of the Victoria Riding Club, spoke to the gathering on the possibilities of raising funds for service work by sponsoring horse-shows.

Harry Hay sang a number of songs, which were enthusiastically received. B. Zala was the accompanist.

Three new members were elected into the club, Mr. Hay, Ernest Peden and Neville Meyers.

URGES PROVISION OF BUILDING CREDITS

It is three-fold. He suggested appointment of a Federal commission of industry and commerce, placing farmers and other primary producers in a position which would give them a larger measure of control in marketing of their products, and a national construction programme.

SAYS CREDIT LIMITED

The reason a start is not made on the construction project is because the credit of the country is in the control of a very small number of men and is not actually available except at costs that are too high or on conditions that are too onerous, Mr. Stevens said.

As a result, unless managements of trust, loan and insurance companies are directed by a policy that intelligently reflects the common good of the country, there is bound to occur economic dislocations that might conceivably endanger the whole structure.

Two years ago, he said, he asked for a conference of heads of banks, insurance, loan and trust companies to meet in Ottawa to formulate a plan or policy to finance a construction programme, but nothing has been done.

Mr. Stevens' subject was Canada's progress, and he asked whether it is real or if the Dominion is still drifting.

WHOLE COUNTRY SHOCKED

He recalled his speech in the same place a little more than a year ago when he declared there were "cankers" eating at the economic life of the Dominion. That gave rise to the price spreads investigation and, he said, the whole country had been shocked at the things brought to its attention.

"I started this movement. I am determined to see it through," he declared amid applause.

People are tiring, however, of the constant constitutional discussions in Parliament and, speaking from an experience of twenty-five years in the House of Commons, he believed there is no need for 90 per cent of the "wrangling" over constitutional points. Instead of arguing with Provinces over jurisdiction, he suggested that the Federal Government should meet Provincial Governments in a frank, businesslike discussion.

As to progress, he quoted statistics to show improvement in car loadings, bank clearings and exports ahead of 1933, but he said there are still 1,200,000 people on relief.

While there is evidence of improvement, Mr. Stevens wondered if it is possible to get to the root of the problem. He suggested that Subsection 2 of Section 91 of the British North America Act gives the Federal Government exclusive jurisdiction over trade and commerce.

SEES CHANGED OPINION

Yet, he said, last November in a speech at Ottawa and another at Montreal, Hon. C. H. Cahan, Secretary of State, had said there was no possibility of giving effect to suggestions coming from the Price Spreads Commission. "He particularly laid stress on regulation of hours and labor."

"That was in November," Mr. Stevens continued. "The same gentleman is sitting in the House today supporting the Premier who has offered measures which the Secretary of State said a few months ago Parliament could do nothing with."

It was possible to straighten out some of the social and economic difficulties confronting the Dominion, Mr. Stevens said. Then he enunciated his three-fold plan.

CONTROL OF STOCK ISSUES

A Federal commission of industry and commerce would be particularly effective in controlling corporations with regard to issuances of capital stock, compelling the issue and publication of proper balance sheets with intelligible information.

Farmers and primary producers figure under the second provision. This calls for removal of monopolistic powers at present exercised in the processing and distribution of primary products.

"Isn't it strange that agriculturists suffered from low prices, yet in the same years some of the outstanding processing organizations have had their most prosperous years?" he asked.

Turning to his construction proposal, the former minister said Canada is behind in its normal construction between $600,000,000 and $900,000,000. For the ten years from 1925 to 1934 the average annual construction bill was $326,000,000, but in 1933 project, were valued at only $90,000,000. A programme of non-productive public works would simply add to the debt. He suggested the programme because of the need of better houses and the employment possibilities of a large scheme.

"Why in the name of heaven do we not get to work?" he asked.

CREDIT COSTS TOO HIGH

"I'll tell you why, because the credit of the country is in the control of a very small number of men and is not actually available except at costs that are too high or on conditions that are too onerous."

During the past fifteen years there has been an increased concentration of funds in the hands of such corporations as life insurance companies and trust and loan companies. From 1924 to 1933 the amount invested in these concerns has increased from $2,200,000,000 to $5,130,000,000, a percentage increase of 133.

"In ten years over $1,500,000,000 has been turned over to a handful of trust companies," he said.

"Take those facts in conjunction with the need of building and you have a situation that must be solved or we will not have the right degree of recovery," he said.

SUGGESTS CONFERENCE

Therefore he suggested a conference of those who control the credit, and representatives of the building industry. If that fails he proposed a Government building corporation having the right to sell its bonds.

"This would draw some savings away from these companies and put them in the hands of a body that would do what private companies have failed to do," he said.

MAYOR McGEER TO SPEAK HERE

Realtors to Have Opportunity to Hear Orator on Municipal Bankruptcy

Mayor G. G. McGeer, K.C., M.P.P., of Vancouver, will address the members of the Real Estate Board of the city tomorrow in Spencer's dining-room at 12:30 p.m. He will take as his subject "Municipal Bankruptcy."

The speaker and the subject upon which he is to speak in view of recent events with which Mayor McGeer has been prominently before the public assure a large attendance of the members of the board to hear his presentation on the subject of municipal finances. An assurance of the speaker that he would address the Real Estate Board at his earliest convenience was given some time ago.

Hubert Lethaby, the secretary of the organization, has now been informed on short notice that tomorrow will suit the convenience of the Mayor of Vancouver and accordingly arrangements have been made for the address to be given.

Mayor McGeer has been subjected to a great deal of criticism with respect to his outspoken declaration with regard to certain aspects of the municipal situation at present, and on the other hand has won encomiums for his declarations with respect to conditions. Members of the Real Estate Board will have the opportunity of hearing tomorrow from Mayor McGeer, in person, and thus will be able to form their own opinions with regard to the sentiments which he expresses.

DECISION NOT YET REACHED IN LONDON

Germany's initial reply passed over all the points of the Anglo-French accord except the proposed air pact, welcomed by the Wilhelmstrasse as the basis of discussion. The Government here considers that satisfactory as far as it goes, but it does not go far enough.

VISIT IS UNCERTAIN

It was stated before the Cabinet met that no decision had been made as to a visit to Berlin by Sir John. The German note suggested direct Anglo-German negotiations on the aerial Locarno proposal. Some Government quarters are understood to be strongly in favor of an early visit.

While The Times was remarking today on the increased German demands in the last year or so, whereby she now wants nothing less than outright equality, it was learned that, if there should be discussion with Germany about abrogation of the disarmament clauses of the Versailles Treaty, Germany would probably demand also the abrogation of the demilitarized zone in the Rhineland. This was not mentioned in the Anglo-French accord.

STILL EXCHANGE VIEWS

The full Anglo-French exchange of views about Germany's reply has not yet been completed, it was stated; but Sir John goes to Paris on February 28 on a private mission—he is to make a speech on parliamentary customs—and he would have at that time an opportunity to meet Premier Pierre-Etienne Flandin and Foreign Minister Pierre Laval.

RUSSIA IN AGREEMENT

MOSCOW, Feb. 20 (AP).—Soviet Russia notified Great Britain and France tonight it is in agreement with the London proposals for a general European peace pact on condition they are carried out in full.

Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinoff instructed Soviet ambassadors at London and Paris to inform the Governments there that regional pacts such as the proposed Eastern Locarno agreement are considered by the U.S.S.R. as absolutely necessary for the preservation of peace in Europe.

This stipulation in the Russian attitude struck directly at Germany, which the Soviets have accused of having ambitions of military aggression against Russia.

ANOTHER GROUP WANTS TOURIST

Music Teachers' Federation Addressed by T. H. Eslick at Luncheon Meeting

The Victoria branch of the British Columbia Music Teachers' Federation is the latest organization to join the groups promising co-operation in the Tourist Trade Development Association's five-year plan for the capitalization of Vancouver Island's unique attractions.

At a special luncheon meeting of the music teachers, held yesterday at Speedie's Cafe, T. H. Eslick, general secretary of the tourist organization, concluded a survey of the form, purposes, and possibilities of the five-year plan by appealing to the teachers for their support. This, on motion of George J. Dyke, seconded by Oliver Stout, was promptly promised, and led to a number of questions and suggestions concerning the part which musicians of the city could take in contributing to the evening entertainments, music festivals, band concerts, and various other forms of musical diversion that will be offered to visitors and residents.

ASSURES HALL

"This attempt on the part of the Tourist Trade Development Association will do more than anything else to provide better musical opportunities in the city, enrich the musical life of the community, give greater openings for musical expansion and the presentation of good music and the musical talent of the Island," Mr. Eslick assured his listeners.

Another important thing about the proposed programme was that it would hasten the realization of the much-needed civic auditorium, without which musical life in the city must of necessity languish. Victoria should possess also a bowl, similar to that in Hollywood, where musical festivals could be carried out. The plan was to have at least two major night attractions during each week of the Summer months, additional, of course, to such evening sports attractions as it was intended to give.

VALUE OF TOURIST

Mr. Eslick painted an optimistic picture of the financial benefits that should accrue to the Island through the proper development of its tourist attractions. Every tourist visiting the Island, it was estimated, was worth, on the average, $30 to the Island, and in 1929 visitors had spent, it was estimated, $3,500,000. Three years from now the Dominion expected to have a tourist income, annually, of $500,000,000. Vancouver Island should get about $15,000,000 of this, and it was with this in mind that the Tourist Trade Development Association was working on a plan to draw and hold visitors. Good evening entertainment, which necessitated the co-operation of the musical and dramatic talent of the city, was an essential part of the projected programme. In this connection Mr. Eslick told the Music Teachers' Federation of the work already done by the civic choir committee of the Tourist Association in bringing together and securing the promised co-operation of the various choirs of the city.

Members of the Music Teachers' Federation present at the luncheon yesterday were Reginald Cox, the president, who was in the chair; Miss Norah Sherwood, Mrs. Marian McGovern, George J. Dyke, Miss Marie George, Mrs. Jean Miller, Miss Roberts, G. Jennings Burnett, Edgar Holloway, Miss Helen Ockenden, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Stout, Mrs. G. Marshall, Miss Waterhouse, Miss Enid Cole, Miss Marjorie Tebo and Miss Griffin.

On behalf of the gathering, Mr. Holloway thanked Mrs. Marshall and Mrs. McGovern for arranging the luncheon.

PROPOSES FIVE-YEAR SETTLEMENT SCHEME

Under a land settlement scheme, said Mr. Vallance, candidates must be hand-picked. It would be useless to pay every applicant $1,000 over five years—as suggested by the Bradette motion—and expect him to make good. In the same way as in immigration, there must be discrimination and education means to make the farm more attractive.

"I hope I never see and Canada never sees a contented peasantry in this country," exclaimed Mr. Vallance. Only in countries where there was no education for the masses was there a contented peasantry. In a country like Canada there was bound to be rural migration as long as people did not realize the advantages of farm life.

OVER FIVE YEARS

In his speech Mr. Bradette said, "I want this Government to spend $20,000,000 during the next five years in settling 20,000 young farmers on new land."

He based his figures on population. Annual increase in Canada's population was about 130,000, of which 65,000 were born in rural areas. Half of these, or 32,500, would be boys. Establishing 20,000 farmers' sons on new farms would practically take care of the increase in farm population.

Each young farmer settled on the land would receive $1,000 in five annual payments of $200. Their operations in the first five years would be supervised by Federal or provincial officials.

Now a second amazing discovery

Nature has stored not only vitamin B in the oat grain. But essential, life-giving minerals like iron, phosphorous and lime that replenish rich, red blood. Combat anemia. Make heat and energy for the day's work.

And now, say doctors, milk eaten with oatmeal builds growth better than with other cereals. Because the growth value of milk is largely Vitamin G.

And Vitamin G can perform its task only when eaten with a food that contains vitamin B so richly supplied in Quaker Oats!

WASTING TIME

If all the schemes proposed by Members of the Legislature during the course of the debate on the Speech were to be put into practice the cost would probably run into some hundreds of millions of dollars. The impossibility of such a provincial expenditure is a somewhat ironic commentary on the value of many of the speeches. In contradistinction to the tone and character of the so many pleas for new expenditures there is the underlying belief of the great majority of the people of the province that the course that should be pursued at the present time is one of strict public economy. Since this opinion prevails it should be the motive of speeches that are supposed to reflect public opinion.

The hope may well be that members of the Government, when they are heard from, will endeavor to reflect that public opinion which believes in the sane outlook on economic well being. No society, no community can work its way out of adversity by spendthrift zeal. We are persuaded that the policy of Mr. John Hart, the Minister of Finance, is one of conserving expenditures as much as possible, of aiming at the goal of balanced budgets and of ultimately placing the province in a position where there can be a reduction in the taxation which now weighs so heavily on the people. There is no course which the Government could pursue better calculated to give a fillip to prosperity than that of restoring confidence among the people by lightening the burdens they have to bear.

If there is one thing that the tenor of the speeches in the Legislature has disclosed it is that many members have dissipated ideas about the ability of the province to indulge in new expenditures. Some of them appear to consider that credit is unlimited. Those ideas will undoubtedly be quelched when the Budget is presented. In the meantime those who advocate an era of spendthrift zeal as a solution of present-day difficulties are tilting at windmills. Their object is to win votes by bribery, which is not even a low form of statecraft because it is not statecraft at all.

"RIVERS OF DAMASCUS"

There is a widespread belief that the "depression" was deepened and intensified by the movement towards economic nationalism and the consequent decline in international trade. The purpose of the Ottawa Conference was to open wider channels of trade between the several units of the Empire. This was an important step in the right direction. The results achieved already have justified the decisions reached at Ottawa and will more fully justify them as these channels are enlarged and freed from obstructions. Conversations are now going on between the Government of Canada and that of the United States with a view to securing greater trade between the two countries. The problem is not without its difficulties, but Mr. Bennett may be able to enter into advantageous arrangements with the Americans without doing any violence to our engagements with the Mother Country and the other Dominions.

Without doubt the increase of unemployment in many countries has been very largely due to the decline in international trade. If goods began to move more freely between one country and another the effect would immediately be seen in greater production and more extensive employment of labor. The decline of overseas trade has been seriously felt in the Old Country and although business conditions have been greatly improved there during the last few years, great efforts are being put forth to bring about an increased exchange of goods with other countries.

Mr. Beaumont Pease, chairman of Lloyds Bank, in his annual address to the shareholders the other day, pointed out that those who suffer from economic ills are only too prone to seek out magical remedies for these disorders. They would like to be cured by a spectacular display of power, something unusual, disturbing, or even revolutionary, "some great thing" or other. Naaman the Syrian disliked the idea of being cleansed from his leprosy by bathing in Jordan. Were not Abana and Pharpar, rivers of Damascus, better than all the waters of Israel? Might he not wash in them and be clean? Nationalization of banks and manipulation of currency are the Abana and Pharpar into which some fastidious amateur economists desire to plunge rather than into the stream of trade and industry that spreads health and vigor through every artery of the economic system.

It is useful to know how people in other parts of the Empire like the idea of nationalizing the banks. Mr. Pease has recently visited Australia and on his return told the Lloyds Bank shareholders that in Australia it was freely admitted by the public generally and by Labor politicians themselves that the threat of nationalization of banks had proved a "very bad political cry." The industrialists were antagonized because they regarded the nationalization of the banks as a preliminary step to the nationalization of their own industries. The depositors were alarmed because they naturally preferred the banks' well-tried trusteeship of their funds to the problematical safety of their custody by a political party, an alarm further increased by the difficulties of the state-owned New South Wales Savings Bank. Those who realized the danger of the nationalization proposals organized an effective programme of education to meet the criticisms brought against the banks, and bank employees, naturally anxious regarding their future employment and well informed as to the actual operation of the banks, gave every assistance in disseminating correct information. In the result the attempt to obtain possession of the banking business failed at the polls.

What about the future of the banks in the Old Country? Depositors in the joint-stock banks of England, Scotland, and Northern Ireland number nearly 14,000,000, their average deposit being about 170 pounds. Most of these depositors have votes. Mr. Pease asks regarding this great number of voters how many of them are likely to cast their votes in favor of the proposed change in the status of the banks: "Is it likely that they would willingly see their property put at the mercy of the whims of any political party by the nationalization of the banks?"

ANCIENT TEA-MAKING

A discussion in progress about the origin of the teapot has brought the date back to the eighth century of Lu Yu during which a work appeared entitled "Ch'a-ching" on tea. It gives many illustrations of various types of vessels for tea-making. The true teapot of that time resembled the coffee pot of today being tall and slender with a long spout. The Chinese in the centuries long past made tea in a manner different to the present practice. They filled the pot with cold water, added the tea leaves and brought it slowly to a boil. The vessel used then served both as kettle and teapot. It was not until the Sung dynasty that there is any record in China of the adding of tea leaves to boiling water.

In the seventeenth century the proportion of tea to water used by the Chinese was one ounce to a good large glass of water. When the leaves sank to the bottom of the water the tea was regarded as fit to drink. It was drunk then as hot as possible, the supposition being that if allowed to cool it would be "good for nothing." The tea leaves were used a second and third time, but on each of these occasions they were boiled with the water. The Japanese of the sixteenth century had the habit of beating the tea into powder, then putting it into boiling water and swallowing it altogether. Both Chinese and Japanese of those times used a little sugar to correct the bitter flavor of the tea.

The London Daily Express says that Great Britain has made a bad bargain with Russia. It was a trade agreement and its object was to level out the enormous adverse balance of trade between the two countries. It has failed. Last year Great Britain bought £17,000,000 worth of goods from Russia and sold £3,500,000 worth to that country. The adverse balance was over £13,000,000. In 1932, the adverse balance in trade was £10,000,000. The agreement is working to the disadvantage of Canada in the lumber trade. "What folly," says The Daily Express. "The countries of the Empire can supply us with all the timber we need; yet we buy from the Russians, who spend our money in the United States."

Proved guilty of neglecting their crops six farmers of Tashkent, in the Soviet Union, have been sentenced to death and twenty others have been given long terms of improsonment. In Novosibirsk four members of the "Red Front" collective farm which had completed only 40 per cent of its scheduled grain production quota were sentenced to death while five others received long prison terms. If Socialism as practised in Russia connotes "humanity first" it is not the kind of humanity that the people of this province are liable to emulate despite the exhortations of Mr. Thomas Uphill, M.P.P.

VILLAGE GOSSIP

I think that I remember you because
Your head was ever tilted toward the sun;
Because you always kept your eyes upon
Far peaks, and stars, and with the earth were one.
But I remember one black tale that went
The rounds, as black tales do in a country town,
And I recall your gallant, youthful pride
That would not stoop to trace the story down.
And I remember gossip-hounds that bayed
Repeatedly, along an empty track;
And how you falsely led them far afield,
Then laughed at them when they came straggling back.
And I remember that you loved all dogs,
And horses; and the young, and very old;
But I cannot remember one small bit
Of all the epics that the gossips told.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

All these instances to be found in history, whether real or fabulous, of a doubtful public spirit, at which morality is perplexed, reason is staggered, and from which affrighted Nature recoils.—Burke.

Two women in Germany have had their heads chopped off on charges of espionage. One of the victims of Nazi summary justice, or injustice, as the case may be, was the wife of a general who held a high command during the war. The trade of a spy always has been extremely hazardous, but not of later years, excepting during war times, has the occupation of a spy been considered a capital offence. The victims of the German headsman were not charged with conspiring with agencies of foreign countries for the purpose of waging war against the beloved Fatherland. The charge against them was that they had been conspiring with the internal enemies of Hitler for the purpose of upsetting the established political order. Dictators are ruthless in their methods. They attained power by force, and they must retain power by force.

But all dictatorships are not so ruthless in their methods as that of Germany. The necessity for periodical purges applies to them all. The purge as a political instrument was originally used in Italy. Mussolini forced castor oil down the throats of agitators who lifted up their voices on street corners against the dictatorship he had set up. Sometimes he supplemented his purges with transportation out of the country. This comparatively mild method of treatment silenced the tongues of Italian rebels. That was probably a concession to foreign public opinion, but it accomplished its purpose.

* * *

In Germany and in Russia he or she who dares to raise a voice against anointed or otherwise ordained rulers comes within the provisions of arbitrary laws. In both countries there may be a form of trial before a specially selected court; but the judgment of the court is always the same. In one case heads roll into a basket in the early morning after. In the other case there is a sound of musketry early in the morning, and justice has been served.

* * *

The strange feature of those established facts is that there are people in England who are enamored of the German system and newspapers in England which extol the virtues of the Nazi system. Another remarkable feature of those established and corrobated facts is that there are citizens of Canada, some of them members of Legislatures, who declare that Communism as they have it in Russia would be the salvation of Canada and that the prosperity and tranquility of the whole world depends upon the adoption of the system administered by the ruthless Stalin.

* * *

One of the fundamentals of British political institutions is that any man may say the thing he will without danger of deprivation of his individual liberty. Another of our fundamental institutions is a free press, in which any citizen may express his opinions of the ruling powers and advocate reforms even if reforms involve changes in governments. In Germany, where there once were more newspapers than in any other European Continental country, there are now very few newspapers, and those which have survived the ordeal of Nazism are not permitted to express either directly or through correspondents any opinions except the views of the dictatorship. Speech and writings are both rigorously censored. Foreign newspaper correspondents who express views of which the censorship does not approve are expelled from the country. Neither Germans nor Russians are permitted to learn anything about the actual conditions in other countries.

* * *

Darkness is more favorable to the works of dictators than light. Where there is light there is life and growth. Where there is no gleam of light there must be stagnation. In Russia attempts have been made to cultivate a favorable foreign public opinion by inviting persons of note or notoriety to visit the country, and under official direction and supervision (all expenses paid) to inspect all the works and report for the enlightenment of their countrymen. Germany is so sure of herself and so indifferent to foreign public opinion that she has thus far not resorted to such stratagems. The old Imperialistic belief still obtains in Germany that the Germans are the chosen people, that Der Tag has merely been postponed, that a day of reckoning and triumph is sure, that Teutonic Kulture must in the end dominate the world.

* * *

We suppose there is a certain glamor about the idea of a dictatorship that is fascinating to persons who are physically and mentally feeble because it involves a revolutionary departure from the old and proved political and economic order. But the truth is that the idle and incapable will be relegated to inferior positions under any order. It is so in the order of nature and in all departments of physical life.

ACTUAL VALUE

Sir,—Another stroke of the midnight hour for bonds is pealing. The problem of more of the overburdened cities will soon be laid at the door of our Provincial Government. The charge cannot be escaped. Our cities and municipalities function under a Municipal Act, given by the Provincial Government, and whose most essential restrictions have not been enforced. This act has laid down a working basis for assessments, but the Government has toyed with the situation while it has known that assessors have "rigged their rolls" for the purpose of misleading bond-buyers and taxpayers. It is now imperative that every assessor's roll be investigated, and criminal action taken where these are not in accord with "actual value" today. Every assessor that pretends that he cannot judge the actual value of property should be relieved of his position forthwith. Since we are into chaos we may as well get down to our concrete foundations at once and then build up a more enduring structure.

Our Municipal Act covers the problem of assessments very wisely. There are four parties interested in this work. The Provincial Government has general control and, therefore, ultimate responsibility. The city or municipal councils operating under this act sometimes need to borrow money. To assure the money interests of the value of the property to be mortgaged, the Provincial Government says, through the Municipal Act, "Land shall be assessed at its actual value, etc." For a further protection for borrowed money, in case a forced sale of the mortgaged land is necessary, bond issues have been approved for only a percentage of the assessed value of the property. The fourth party interested "was" the taxpayer. Councils, bond dealers, government, appear to have conspired against the taxpayer. Hence our chaos.

So many people today are blowing wonderful pipe dreams on general government that sufficient thought and attention is not being given to our working essentials. If we can clarify our minds on "Why do we tax?" and "Who should pay?" the rest of our problems may be much simplified. It is generally agreed that the heavy tax on land has been a colossal blunder. Too much reproductive wealth has been put in improvements, and while it has produced the substance necessary for the payment of taxes it has demanded services, but has given very little or no return for the costs it has entailed. A compulsory taxation of 100 per cent of the value of improvements, along with the land tax, would appear to collect taxes "where services are demanded," "where incomes are produced," and "where the money is" supposed to be.

This generation has grievously wronged the landowner. Having broken this payer of taxes, neither bondholder nor Government can escape from the tragedy.

The time used is Pacific standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of low water.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Esquimalt drydock, add 16.9 feet to the height of high water as above given.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Songhees drydock, add 30 feet to the height of high water as above given.

OPPOSE USE OF JUBILEE FUND

Anti-Vivisection Societies Send Telegram to Premier on Research

Anti-vivisection societies throughout Canada have been expressing their objections to the proposed use of the Jubilee Fund for Cancer Research. The local society has sent the following telegram to His Excellency the Governor-General, Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett and to Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King.

"Cancer research, being inevitably associated with experiments on animals, the Canadian Anti-Vivisection Society, representing thousands of persons, objects to the Cancer Research Fund arranged for the Jubilee Celebration. Moreover, vivisection being a highly controversial subject should not be associated with the King's name."

ASKS COMMISSION

The Dominion Government is also being approached to permit the presentation of a bill for abolition of vivisection, or for the granting of a Royal Commission to inquire into the matter. It was pointed out that Canada is one of the most backward countries in regard to its laws for protection of animals.

Considerable criticism has resulted from complaints made by parents and taxpayers in connection with health propaganda in the public schools. It is felt that if taxpayers' money is being used for instruction which advocates the use of serums and vaccines, even though many object to their use, it should also be permitted to conduct propaganda against these methods, since the question is controversial. It was alleged that pupils were being frightened into believing that such methods are essential to health.

The condolences of the local society were tendered to the family the late J. P. Hodgson, of Vancouver, a generous supporter of the anti-vivisection movement. W. B. Pease will speak at a house meeting to be arranged shortly.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily British Colonist of February 21, 1885.)

Victoria Weather—Yesterday was an example of our lovely Spring weather, a pleasant contrast to the severe weather experienced in the East, where it is ranging from ten to forty degrees below zero. Ice palaces, ice boats, ice bridges and railways are pleasant enough to read about, but we prefer to bask in the semi-Summer sun of a Victoria February. The flower gardens are putting on their many headdresses, and the trees are springing into new life in its genial smile.

Dynamite Plot—The Portland News tells of an Irishman who says a club is being formed to blow up the drydock and Parliament Buildings at Victoria with dynamite.

City Lighted—The electric light and the moon were trying to outvie each other last night, and as a consequence there was a brilliantly-lighted city. The moon held out for a long time, but vanished about midnight.

New Sidewalks—New wooden walks have been laid in several parts of the city and are proving a great convenience to citizens generally.

DECISION HELD OVER IN CASE

Mr. Justice Martin Concludes Emma K Hearing in Admiralty Court Here

The case of the little ship Emma K, reputed to have had a varied career as a rum runner, which has been before Mr. Justice Martin in the Admiralty Court here for several days past, was concluded yesterday at noon, judgment being reserved by His Lordship, who expressed a desire that counsel on both sides might submit to him any further citations dealing with the question of interest in the vessel held by the registered owner or others.

During the progress of the case, it was stated by counsel that no previous decisions had been found which covered the point. His Lordship suggested that counsel might make an effort to see if any could be found when they should be submitted to him through the registrar without the necessity of holding a court sitting.

Yesterday morning, W. Chandler Thomson called his client, John C. Barrett, of Vancouver, who testified that he had known Percy Allender, who had been given a mortgage for $5,000 on the Emma K. He had known Mr. Allender for seven years. Mr. Allender resided in California. He had had frequent conversations with him over the telephone. Witness said he acted as agent for Mr. Allender with respect to the ship and also with regard to the mortgage held.

TRANSFERRED MORTGAGE

A transfer of the mortgage appeared on the back of the mortgage, which was produced. This transfer to witness had taken place on December 4, 1934, and was in the handwriting of Mr. Allender. Action had been commenced by witness on December 27, 1934, on instructions of Mr. Allender. There was owing to him $5,880 in interest and principal. He had been assured by Mr. Allender that none of this was paid.

To H. W. R. Moore for the Crown, witness said that in April the ship had been seized. Action was commenced in November in the name of Mr. Allender. He could not say why the action was not started in the name of himself (Mr. Barrett).

Mr. Justice Martin asked if there had been a motion along this line brought before him.

Mr. Moore thought there had been, but Mr. Thomson intervened with the statement there was not actually a motion made by himself. It was mentioned, but no application was actually made. Later, when the case came up, he had altered the application, so that it appeared in the name of Mr. Barrett.

Witness told Mr Moore he had had nothing to do with the placing of the mortgage. He had, however, when the ship was brought from Mexico, made the arrangements for money being provided the captain in order to bring the vessel north to Vancouver.

To Mr. Thomson, witness said he had since his appointment as agent for Mr. Allender, continued to act for him in every way with respect to the ship.

COUNSEL HEARD

Addressing the court, Mr. Thomson said there was no doubt about the agency existing between Barrett and Allender. Later, the transfer of the mortgage was made in order to facilitate this.

He asked the dismissal of the case of the Crown, as otherwise there would be nothing left to satisfy the claim of $5,880 owing to his client. There was only about $2,500 to be applied, and this would not satisfy the claim of his client. The mortgage, he pointed out, covered 64-64ths of the shares of the ship.

Mr. Moore took the position that the court had only hearsay evidence on which to base a conclusion that the principal and the interest had not been paid on the mortgage. He argued that an incumbrance on the shares of the ship could under the authorities have no effect upon the claim made.

Following this, the court made a request for any further authorities on the point of the interest in the ship, which could be submitted later to him.

Echoes From The Gallery

Bill No. 4 made its way into the Legislature yesterday by message. It would amend the Police and Prisons Regulation Act to insure that prisoners delivered to Oakalla arrive there with a medical certificate of good health, free from infectious or contagious disease. Attorney-General Sloan piloted the measure through first reading.

Four members contributed to the main debate. Speaking times were forty-nine, thirty-seven, thirty-five minutes and one hour and fourteen minutes, respectively, from first to final speaker. John Price will start first today shortly after 2:30 p.m. Mayor G. G. McGeer, K.C., is listed to follow for his third address in Victoria within twenty-four hours.

Three committees will be in action at 10:30 this morning, forestry, municipal affairs and fisheries, respectively. The municipal committee will hear Government proposals as to suggested changes in statutes covering commissioned areas, dealing particularly with new powers as to investment of sinking funds.

On Monday, the public accounts panel will hold a first meeting, while that on private bills will commence hearings on the Victoria city private bill.

The Government has exhausted most of the list of Opposition members on the main debate, and will soon begin a series of replies through Liberal supporters.

Rev. E. F. Church opened the House with prayer. Premier Pattullo moved adjournment for the day at 5:59 p.m. until 2:30 p.m. today.

Questions, motions and answers have commenced an accelerated rate of progression. The official Opposition is to ask for a special legislative committee to examine the Mothers' Pensions Act, with a view to recommending changes.

The Government is preparing a formal motion preceding two sittings a day after this week. This is the usual precursor of the budget, and paves the way for afternoon and evening sittings daily when required.

The railway committee will get down to work on Friday at 10:30 a.m., it was said last evening.

Has New Plan to Prevent Garbage From Refloating

Alderman Walter Luney has a new scheme for garbage transportation and treatment to do away with dust and to remove the tendency of garbage, when dumped at sea, to float back onto the beaches.

Alderman Luney proposes a sprinkler system on garbage carts to wet down garbage as it is loaded and to eliminate dust when unloading at the wharf. He also advocates crushers to break bottles, puncture tin cans and to grind garbage to prevent refloating.

The acquisition of one truck for experiment is recommended by Alderman Luney. It is understood the system proposed is in use in other cities and has worked efficiently.

Relatives and many old-time friends attended the service conducted by Rev. S. Ryall. The congregational hymn sung was "Unto the Hills," and Mrs. S. M. Morton sang the solo, "The King of Love My Shepherd Is." The honorary pallbearers were Dr. Alymer, Capt. Strangman, Capt. Barff and Walter Paterson. The active pallbearers were Kenneth Duncan, Reg. Gooding, John Craig, John Ciceri, Arnold Morley and H. H. Coton. The remains were laid at rest in the family plot at St. Luke's Cemetery, Cedar Hill.

The co-operation of the Eastern Orthodox churches and the Episcopal churches on this continent was the subject of a series of meetings recently held in Rochester, N.Y. The object was to further the cause of fellowship between the "Catholic" churches represented.

Fear of Middle Age
Severe Strain on the Nerves

The dread of middle age
Has ruined the health of many a woman.
To some it is a worry that brings a nervous breakdown.
This period in life has its difficulties,
But they are greatly exaggerated by the imagination.
It is the fear and worry that depletes the nervous system,
Rather than the natural change at this time of life.
By keeping the blood rich and red
And thereby supplying nutrition to the nervous system,
You need have no fear of middle age.
By using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food regularly,
Throughout this period of change,
You can usually avoid any serious trouble.
With a good supply of nerve force
To ensure the health and vigor of mind and body,
You dismiss from your mind any worry
You may have had about middle life.

SAYS CHEMICAL USE IS COMING

Committee Told of Distillation, Gum-Tapping and Wood Derivatives

Drastic revision of British Columbia forest policies to conserve depleting stands of accessible timber, together with utilization of chemical means to develop bi-products, were suggested to the legislative committee on forestry yesterday by Dr. M. H. Paulik, of the Forest Conservation League. Dr. Paulik made an impression, and was asked for further data.

Pacific Northwest timber assets were on their way to extinction, it was suggested. Seventy-five years ago there had been 135,000,000 acres of timbered land in the country. British Columbia had 9,000,000 acres left. If the present method and rate of cut persisted, without radical change, the forests would eventually vanish.

NEGLIGIBLE RETURNS

The net income over developed and undeveloped timber in the last twenty years had been a cent and a half per acre, the smallest in the world, Dr. Paulik continued. In Europe the average net income from timber was betwee. $9 and $11 per acre; while in New Hampshire at one point it was $25 per acre.

If a proper forest management policy were introduced, sufficient revenues could be secured to wipe out the effect of the entire depression, he believed. It was idle to argue if British Columbia forests would last eighteen or eighty years. Unless a definite policy of conservation and use were established, extinguishment of the largest natural resource was certain. Seized with these facts the Forest Conservation League had been formed, with the object of securing Government action.

Dr. Paulick suggested chemical development of bi-products, including the tapping of selected yellow pine stands for resins and gum turpentines, and distillation of lower-grade woods. Wood in other countries was being broken up into thousands of derivatives, with 100 per cent use of the tree; compared with 60 per cent use and 40 per cent waste in British Columbia with highlead logging systems.

British Columbia was exporting logs, to reimport acetones, resins and turpentines from abroad. The best grade of logs was still being made into pulp, while no effort was made to conserve existing stands or to create new ones in place of the annual heavy cut.

Dr. Paulick suggested, finally, that the Province study the subject, with a view to a modest start at exploration of the new possibilities of chemical research in lumber. He was invited by the committee to augment his written brief with concrete proposals as to how a start should be made.

Captain F. C. Brown and Charles Wilkinson spoke to renewal of the customary grant to the Canadian Forestry Association.

REQUEST CHANGES IN WAGE MEASURE

Trades and Labor Council Reminds Minister of Proposed Alterations Covering Ages

The need of immediate changes in the Minimum Wage Act to make the minimum wage set for each industry and trade apply to all workers, irrespective of age, is being called to the attention of the Provincial Minister of Labor in a resolution passed by the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council here last night.

Some time ago Hon. G. S. Pearson addressed the delegates of the council on the operation of the act and referred to proposed changes to the act likely to be made at this session of the Legislature. The resolution embodies the following:

"Sir,—Mindful of the fact that, when you appeared before the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council you definitely undertook to have the Minimum Wage Act so amended at the present session of the British Columbia Legislature, that the minimum wage set for each and every industry, trade or calling, should apply to all workers, irrespective of age, we, the members of this Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council, hereby beg leave to remind you of your undertaking, and call upon you to implement your promises."

Tax Collections Reach Top Figure

At the close of business at the city treasurer's office yesterday a total of over $360,000 had been paid in by taxpayers under the prepaid tax system. This amount is more than half of the total of prepaid taxes for the entire period of last year and well ahead of 1933, according to figures given out yesterday.

LAID AT REST

The funeral of Martha Blanche Harrison, who passed away on February 17, took place yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Relatives and an unusually large gathering of friends attended the service conducted by Rev. N. E. Smith. The congregational hymn sung was "Safe In the Arms of Jesus." Mrs. S. M. Morton sang the solo, "God Will Take Care of You." The casket was covered and surrounded by numerous beautiful floral designs. The following young men acted as pallbearers: Douglas and John Harrison, brothers of the deceased; and C. Gillies, R. Gillies, W. Bourne and R. Lindley. The remains were laid at rest in the family plot at Ross Bay Cemetery.

Small Fruits And Rhubarb Plan Favored

The Saanich Fruitgrowers' Association held its annual meeting on Tuesday night, at Keating, with a large attendance. One of the principal discussions was the proposed scheme, under the Marketing Act, which was explained by Captain Livesey, chairman of the provisional board.

After a lengthy discussion, the scheme, "small fruits and rhubarb," was aproved by a large majority.

P. Holloway, W. Radcliffe and H. Young were elected directors for 1935. They are to serve a two-year term.

Owing to the lateness of the hour, the appointment of officers was deferred.

WILL CELEBRATE NINETIETH YEAR

Daniel Ferguson to Be Honored at a Nonagenarian Birthday Party

DANIEL FERGUSON

Many relatives and friends will join today in congratulating Daniel Ferguson, 1027 Chamberlain Street, on the attainment of his ninetieth birthday. In the evening, members of the immediate family will tender him a birthday party.

Despite his many years, Mr. Ferguson is unusually active and has a keen appreciation of life. With a clear memory, sharp mind and good eyesight, he proves entertaining in all company. Having a great desire for reading, Mr. Ferguson keeps well informed on the current matters of the world, and for relaxation enthusiastically turns to contract bridge. He is a regular attendant on Sundays at the Oak Bay United Church.

BORN IN ONTARIO

Born in St. Thomas, Ontario, Mr. Ferguson lived there until 1927, when he came to Victoria. During his residence in St. Thomas, he was for many years collector of customs. He retired from that office in 1925.

He is the father of Kenneth Ferguson, Victoria school trustee. In Victoria, besides his son, are three daughters, living at the family home.

MANY RECOLLECTIONS

Mr. Ferguson can remember the celebration of the victory of the British forces at Sebastopol, and can remember early incidents in the career of Abraham Lincoln, his election as president, and his assassination. During the Civil War he was traveling in the United States and nearly got into the war. Later he was in St. Louis, and went through the "black fever" epidemic there. In 1866 he was a member of the Canadian militia which took part in the suppression of the Fenian raids, and today is one of the few survivors.

SAYS GOLD CLAUSE DECISION TO MEAN MUCH TO CALIFORNIA

"The gold clause decision by the United States Supreme Court means a lot to our state," W. G. Geary, of Sacramento, said yesterday at the Empress Hotel. "It should make things hum down there, as well as in other gold-producing states."

Business conditions have been steadily improving in California, Mr. Geary stated, and added that preparations were being made for a banner year, as a big influx of tourists into California was expected.

Mr. Geary is in the wholesale drug business, his father being partner in the firm of McKeffon, Kirk & Geary, of Sacramento. Mr. Geary is accompanied by Mrs. Geary, and they plan to motor to many parts of Vancouver Island during the next few days.

BOARD DISPUTE FOR MEN RAISED

Contract Company Asked to Be Responsible to Cowichan Inn for Adjustments in Accounts

In the County Court here, an action is now being tried in which Alexander S. Paul appears as the plaintiff seeking to collect from the Peterson Electrical Construction Company a sum in dispute over the allowance made for the boarding and rooming of employees of the construction company during the erection of an electric line at Cowichan Bay. The plaintiff is the proprietor of the Cowichan Inn who puts forward a claim amounting to over $700.

E. L. Talt appears as counsel for the plaintiff in the action, with Roy Manzer appearing for the defendants. The case for the plaintiff was completed before court adjourned yesterday afternoon. The case for the defence had also commenced with the submission of evidence by J. Russell, secretary of the company, as to the way in which the arrangements were carried out with hotels that furnished accommodation for their men.

In the case of a job which like this one extended over some time, the company pays the board allowance to the hotel, keeping it off the wages paid the men. This was done, said Mr. Russell, as a matter of convenience for all concerned. The men were really the ones who paid for the board.

Mr. Talt, in connection with the case for the plaintiff, set out charges for the use of a boat controlled by the plaintiff, and also for other accessories.

The case will proceed today before Judge Lampman.

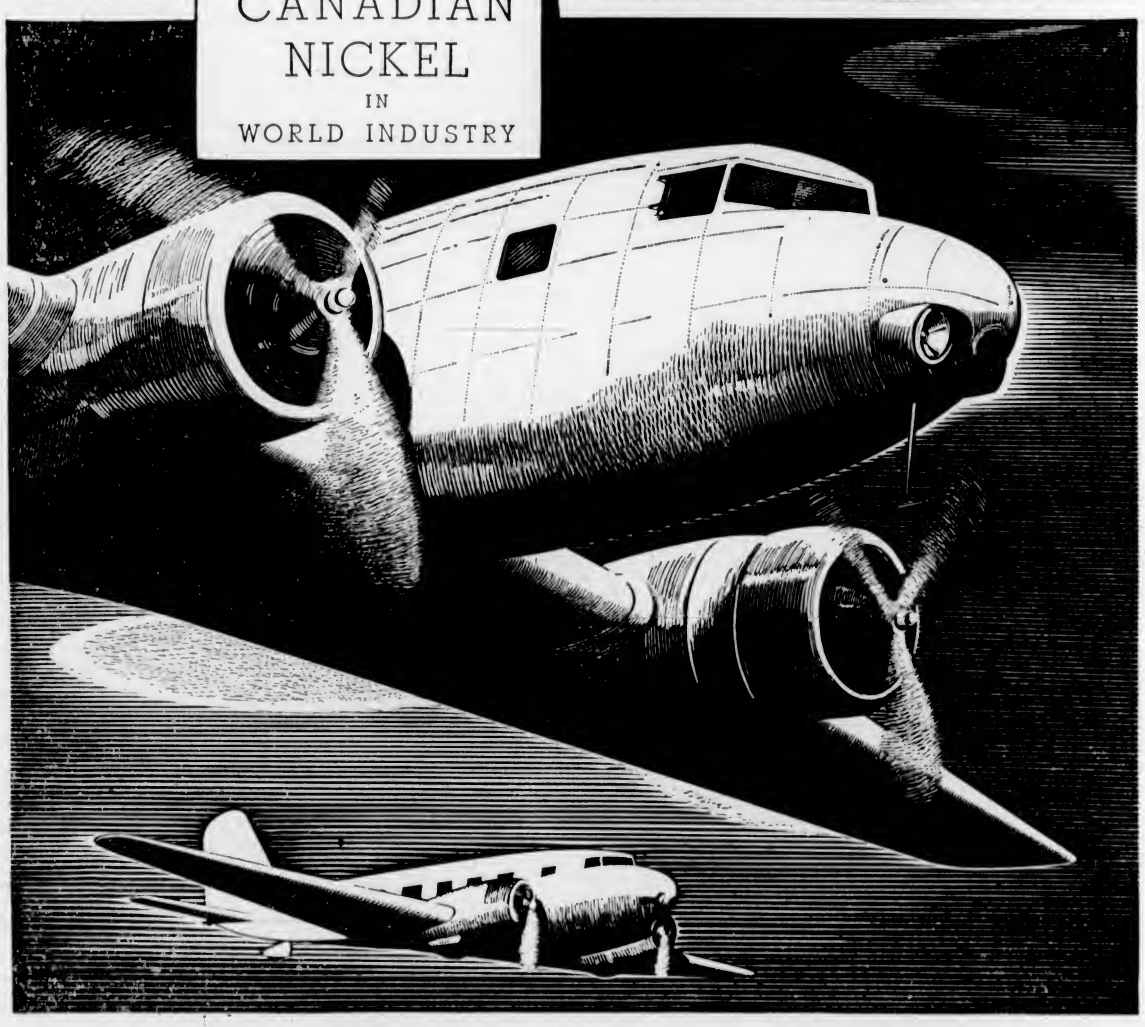

FUNERAL MASS TODAY

The funeral mass for the late John McKelvey will be celebrated by Rev. C. T. Asbury in St. Andrew's Cathedral at 9 o'clock this morning, and the interment will be made in Ross Bay Cemetery.

CANADIAN NICKEL IN WORLD INDUSTRY

THE AVIATION INDUSTRY

Along the Trackless Highways

NICKEL MAKES AIR TRAVEL SAFER, FASTER AND MORE DEPENDABLE

In the early morning you step into the beautifully appointed cabin of the modern ship of the air. A slight movement and you are in the air speeding along with a feeling of security and confidence. Then you settle back to think of the friends you have left behind and those, hundreds of miles ahead who will greet you this evening. That is air travel as it is today.

The whole success of modern air transportation is built on confidence; confidence is built on dependability; and in the modern aeroplane, dependability is based upon the materials that enter into its construction.

Nickel and Nickel alloys have played a very definite part in the development of the modern aeroplane to its present high degree of strength and safety. From nose to tail, Nickel alloys are used for the important parts of the engine, fuselage, wings, struts, gasoline tanks and even for the bolts, screws and rivets.

This extensive use of Nickel, Monel Metal and other Nickel alloys for aeroplane construction has come about because of their great strength, toughness and resistance to corrosion, and their ability to stand up under the severest strains.

Through cooperating with the engineering departments of the Aeroplane Industry, our engineers and metallurgists have been able to lend assistance in the development of the present-day aeroplane to its present great efficiency and dependability.

This same cooperation is willingly given to all branches of industry throughout the world. 99% of the Nickel mined at Sudbury must be sold abroad, as Canada consumes only 1% of the production of Canadian Nickel. It is only by finding and developing new uses for Nickel in world industry that this can be accomplished.

BEST RIDING TALENT READY

Array of High-Ranking Jockeys to Pilot Horses in Big Derby

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 20 (AP).—An array of riding talent, including the best jockeys in the United States, is being gathered together here for the Santa Anita Handicap with its $100,000 added money on Saturday.

Hurry up calls were sent to Miami, Fla., today, as owners who feel their charges have a chance to beat Equipoise in the wealthy mile and a quarter event, sought to put up the best pilot available.

Johnny Meade has been called to ride the sprinter Ted Clark, owned by Dr. C. N. Mooney, of Toronto. L. M. Schwartz is making every effort to get Eddie Arcaro for Gusto.

Equipoise will be ridden by Raymond ("Sonny") Workman, the Washington, D.C., jockey, who has had a leg across the King of the Turf in most of his great races in recent years.

Silvio Coucci, who booted Gillie home in the Derby here last Saturday, is going to attempt the same thing with Twenty Grand as the veteran runner seeks to make good on the comeback trail.

Feesey Cup Play To Open Sunday At Uplands Club

Play for the Feesey Cup will open Sunday at the Uplands Golf Club with the eighteen-hole qualifying round. Regular entries will close tomorrow at 4 o'clock, but post-entries will be accepted.

The sixteen low scores will qualify for the trophy flight, and the remainder of the field will be formed into flights, depending on the number of entries.

On March 3 there will be two rounds of match play, three-quarters of the difference in handicap being allowed. The competition will be concluded on March 10, when the semi-finals and finals will be played.

H. O. English, present holder of the cup, will defend his laurels. A Youngman, runner-up last year, will also be in the field.

BLAMES USURY FOR CONDITION

Mayor McGeer, Vancouver, Addresses Men's Guild of Cathedral on Debts

"How was it possible for us to have gone forward, prattling our prayers, going through all the gestures of our Christianity built on a foundation of interest-bearing debt, without expecting disaster? How did we come to forget the plain laws we should have respected and how long are we going to go on doing it?" asked Mayor G. G. McGeer, M.P.P., of Vancouver, in the course of an address to members of the Men's Guild of Christ Church Cathedral at their annual dinner here last night.

Mayor McGeer was reviewing conditions in Vancouver, in reply to criticism of lavish expenditures in the city's administration. "There are no lavish expenditures over there. Our hospital service is below standard. We are using a rented City Hall, our school system is not what it should be, and our water and sewerage systems are certainly below the standard. With all these things as they are, we cannot provide for our unemployment before we pay $3,800,000 for debt charges; $1,600,000 for sinking fund, and yet we call ourselves a Christian people when we cannot increase the meagre allowance, for those on relief, that is based on human necessity."

SANCITY OF CONTRACT

"In order to sanctify the contract, we must sacrifice the widow's home. They say we must sacrifice everything in order that the credit of our municipality must be saved, in order that the god usury might be served."

Mr. McGeer's address was devoted mainly to the threat of materialism to ultimately disintegrate civilization, and he endeavored to show, by repeated reference to Biblical law, that usury was responsible for the present economic condition of the world. In its place he would have governments assert their right to create money in order that the people of the world would have their share of the abundance of goods already available.

WORK FOR ALL

Mr. McGeer said: "In Victoria you have at the present time enough needed work to take care of all your unemployed, and your city council would do it, but it cannot borrow the money. You want the tourists to come here. Do you think they want to travel over the rabbit trails and goat trials you call roads on this Island? Of course, our Government knows there is plenty of work for all, but Mr. John Hart will tell you he has no money and can't borrow any, because Gerry McGeer has ruined the credit of the Province. If Gerry McGeer, in his lifetime, could stop credit so as to make it impossible for the country to borrow, and force the Governments to create their own currency, he would die happy," Mr. McGeer declared, amid an outburst of applause.

POWER OF USURY

"This debt-ridden world is being turned upside down. Our civilization has gone haywire, and we have not enough haywire to patch the thing up," he maintained. There was, he said, a way out. "Stop the power of usury. The remedy is there, but we have got to find a way to get the people to agree on the method to put the remedy into effect. We have come to the time when we are going to find a way to agree on the fundamental things, or suffer chaos, destitution and the misery of a discordant people," Mr. McGeer said, adding: "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse seem to be coming back again. The taxpayer is riding the black horse of stagnation."

The Prime Minister of Canada, he said, had declared that "nothing but the grace of God could save us." The Leader of the Opposition calls attention to the teachings of Christ, and Roosevelt thrills the world. Lloyd George, he stated, refers to "the arrogant priesthood of the golden calf."

"KNOW THE WARNING"

"What do these men mean? Why are they saying these things?" Mr. McGeer said. "It is because they know the warning given by Moses, 'Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's goods'." Usury is the most dangerous form of covetness that ever existed.

Mr. McGeer disagreed with his critics who claimed that usury as mentioned in the Bible—"Unto a brother thou shalt not lend at usury"—did not refer to interest. "Usury as given in the Bible is interest on any money lent even to the smallest amount. Is it not true that an Orthodox Jew will not lend to a brother?" In support of his contention, Mr. McGeer quoted references by Calvin, Ruskin and Luther.

MONEY CHANGERS

Mr. McGeer went back to the money changers in the temple for his proof that Christ saw the inevitable when he ordered them out of the temple. The people of today have not, he said, taken heed of that warning. Christianity has not failed to give the light to democracy, but democracy has not yet seen the light. The Church has a responsibility. The men of the Church who are the backbone of the clergy must be prepared to face the issue, if the administration of our affairs is to be governed by sane thinking people and not given over to the underworld," Mr. McGeer concluded.

The address of Mr. McGeer was given following the annual dinner of the Men's Guild. He was introduced by H. H. Smith, president of the guild. Following the address, the members were entertained with a variety programme which included recitations, H. H. Hollins; solos, James Petrie; humorous stories, B. C. Lillie; song, Rev. T. R. Lancaster, and magic by C. Crockerford.

BATTAGLIA WINS RETURN BATTLE

Canadian Fighter Stops Solly Dukelsky in Sixth Round of St. Paul Mix

ST. PAUL, Feb. 20 (CP). — Frankie Battaglia, Canadian middleweight champion, of Winnipeg, evened his score with Solly Dukelsky by stopping the Chicago boxer in the fifth round here last night.

The referee stopped the uneven bout in that round to save Solly, celebrating his twenty-first birthday incidentally, from further punishment.

When the two youths met in a Chicago ring last year, Dukelsky had the good sense to stay out of range of the Canadian - Italian middleweight's dynamite fists and he won on points.

Last night, however, he tried to outscrap Frankie and went down as early as the second round for a count of eight.

Battaglia kept pouring steaming rights at Solly's chin and leathering his opponent's body with trip-hammer lefts.

When the referee called a halt, Dukelsky was staggering about the ring like a drunken man.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

ONE of the most interesting of camera stunts is the making of "table-top" pictures. As the term indicates, you assemble your picture material on some convenient table or bench, and shoot it from any desired angle.

"Table-top" pictures are, usually, very much like model stage settings. You may use dolls, toys, statuettes, model airplanes, miniature trains, boats—anything at all that appeals to you. The point of the whole thing is to arrange your subjects in an interesting, realistic, or fantastic fashion, and to light this arrangement so that it makes a good picture.

Usually, these pictures are taken at close range. If your camera cannot be focused for close-ups, use a portrait attachment—a simple, inexpensive, and highly useful little gadget.

There's no limit to the effects you can achieve. And there's nothing much more fascinating than working them out. Here are some pointers that may save you time and trouble:

Remember that the only point of view that matters is the point of view of your camera's lens. Your set-up may appear charming from above or from th side. But don't let it mislead you. The camera must be pleas d.

Working at close range, the depth of focus of your lens is not likely to be great. So keep the elements within as short a distance, front to back, as possible. And the most important feature should be at the point of exact focus.

If you want to give an effect of deep distance, as in a miniature landscape set-up, place various figures (trees, houses, fences, etc.) in receding planes. The focus will become less exact as the distance from the camera increases. A piece of dark cardboard, cut with an irregular edge, laid across the back of the set, will become a range of distant hills. And a big piece of light cardboard, set up well back of the rest of the set-up, gives you a good "sky."

Remember that the camera's outlook is wedge-shaped—narrow close to the lens and widening out as it goes into the distance.

The great fun in this work is playing with light. Sometimes a single strong flood of light will give you what you want. Again, you may want one figure to stand out brilliantly, with everything else subdued. To do this, you will have to block off most of the light with shirt cardboards, books, or whatever you need.

You'll get your best effects by working with the lens at its smallest opening. Allow plenty of time—anywhere from ten seconds to a minute or two, depending on the amount of light.

Too, don't forget that most films register blue as white, and red as black or dark navy. A white figure against a blue background will tend to be lost; similarly, a red figure will not stand out against a dark background.

It's fascinating business, all in all, and will repay you well for your patience and ingenuity.—John Van Guilder.

Visiting Golfers Enjoy Cabaret Dance Numbers

"Song of the Birdies" Is Spectacular Item of Programme Given at Midweek Entertainment at Empress Hotel

Daffodils are not usually associated with Midwinter golf, yet the two blend in a happy combination this year, and the visiting players have been loud in the praises and appreciation of the Spring-like weather which has greeted them this week. In the ballroom of the Empress Hotel, where the midweek cabaret arranged for the entertainment of the players and their friends was held last evening, the tables were arranged with exquisite bowls of daffodils and plum blossom, which added a further touch of Spring.

The ballroom was thronged with dancers, many last-minute reservations for tables being received late yesterday afternoon, following the announcement that there was no more accommodation for Saturday night's final cabaret. Several dinner parties had been held previously, the guests arriving shortly after 10 o'clock.

CABARET "TURNS"

The first cabaret number was "La Cucaracha," by "Babe" Pennock and Thelma Ackerman, who wore very attractive black satin costumes made with wide shoulder wing sleeves and deep red bespangled hems. Their hats were wide-brimmed Spanish models of brilliant red.

A jazz toe dance by Thelma Stratford was the second number of the programme, and she appeared in an abbreviated black skirt trimmed with silver, a black and silver bodice of futuristic design and hat to correspond. Helen Beck and her partner, Jim Watt, appeared in a spectacular Apache number, receiving, as did all the dancers, hearty applause from the onlookers.

BIRD NUMBER

The outstanding number of the programme was "The Song of the Birdies," clever, colorful and exceedingly popular. Mrs. Charles E. Wilson, who staged this number at the Midwinter golf tournament two years ago, put it on again by special request and, judging by the vociferous applause, it had lost nothing by the repetition.

From a tinsel "bird cage" at the back of the orchestra platform, a group of be-feathered dancers, gorgeous in orange and black plumage, emerged as Mrs. Wilson, also resplendent in fine feathers, sang her "Song of the Birdie." They were loudly cheered as they danced, and the number was encored many times. Those taking part in the chorus were Misses Isabel McAlpine, "Babe" Pennock, Thelma Ackerman, Evelyn Grieve and Kay Burt. The girls who took part in the dances were pupils of Miss Florence Clough.

Ball Held at Rideau Hall

OTTAWA, Feb. 20 (CP). — The Governor - General and Countess Bessborough tonight entertained more than 500 guests at a Government House ball staged in a setting of pre-war glitter.

The Earl and Countess Bessborough received in the main drawing room, attended by their aides-de-camp. Her Excellency wore a handsome Maggy Rouff gown of blue and silver lamé with diamond and pearl jewelry. When all the guests had been received, the orchestra played "God Save the King," and Their Excellencies headed a procession into the ballroom.

They were attended by Col. Willis O'Connor, Capt. E. M. Adeane, Capt. D. H. Fisher-Rowe, and Capt. Sir Michael Culme Seymour. The Hon. Mrs. Gordon Ives also attended the Countess and wore an Irene Dana gown of plum-colored satin.

In the party were Lord Duncannon, the vice-regents' eldest son; Mrs. Eugene Mirabaud, of Paris, Countess Bessborough's cousin, and her daughter; Mr. A. F. Lascelles, secretary to the Governor-General, Mrs. Lascelles and Mrs. O'Connor.

The entire residence was used for the function and was adorned with a profusion of Spring flowers. A buffet supper was served in the racquet court.

"THE CHILD"

By REGINALD H. WIGGINS, M.D., C.M., L.M.C.C.

MORAL TRAINING

How is the child's character formed and how may self-control be developed? By wise and adequate physical training, mental training and moral training, which is based on the parent's informed preparation and common sense.

When we know that moral training is the true basis for the child's welfare throughout life, the necessity for doing our utmost to develop a fine moral sense in the child is both obvious and clear.

I ask all parents to dwell on the following statements relative to his moral education:

1. It is the force of example which is really effective, and not precept. Constantly reiterated appeals have no value.

2. Do not emphasize negative virtues. Rather tell him simply and clearly what he may do. No one, much less the child, can progress merely by avoiding faults.

3. Parents must be absolutely just and truthful to the child. He is quick to perceive deceit and the harmful impression may last like a deep scar throughout life.

4. Trust the child and expect conduct of a high moral standard. Take it for granted that he will display all the virtues that we think he should. The child will fail, but when failure occurs, explain, forget the lapse and restore your confidence in him.

5. Never give the child a bad name. Remember that children always have the tendency to live up to the reputation we give them.

The parent who will be the most successful is the one who will be comparatively blind to failure, but who is ever ready with his encouragement and his appreciation.

X-Ray Fund Assisted by Programme

A fine programme was arranged last night at the Crystal Garden in aid of the X-Ray fund of the Solarium, under the auspices of Far West Assembly No. 30, Canadian Daughters' League. Mr. Herbert Anscomb, M.P.P., was the chairman and opened the proceedings with a short talk.

Two one-act plays were presented by the Victoria Little Theatre, and members of the Schubert Club trio sang three delightful numbers. Dances, vocal and accordion solos added to the variety of the entertainment, which was received with great applause.

"The Lovely Miracle" by Philip Johnson, directed by Mr. J. Barraclough, opened the programme. Those taking part were as follows: Mrs. A. Harris, Grace Huddlestone, Helen Hurn, and Brian Green. Mrs. Florence Noel sang "Myfanny," and as an encore, "What the Daisies Said." Later in the evening she sang "Happy Song" (del Reigo). A Spanish dance, "La Cucaracha," by Gwen N. Daly and Marjorie Williams, was well received. The selections chosen by the Schubert Club trio included "On Wings of Song," "Wild Rose," and "Impatience."

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

By Ely Culbertson

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

GRAND NATIONAL

The Grand National, the blue ribbon contract bridge event of the year, started in New York a few days ago, under the auspices and direction of the United States Bridge Association. Teams from every part of the country, having won through a series of elimination contests in eleven regional districts, are competing for the nation's highest honor in contract bridge.

Expert players from Oregon Georgia and New Mexico are gathered in competition with their peers from the Middle West and the East. The bridge talent of the entire country has this opportunity to meet over the bridge table and the winners will vanquish, not only a local group, but the selected champions of each region.

Among those eligible are Mrs. Humphrey Wager, Whitney Cary, Freda Levy and John Tyner, from Atlanta, Georgia. Mrs. Wager and Frey Levy were winners of the national pairs contest of 1933 in Cincinnati. Boston will furnish Mrs. F. J. Robinson, J. R. Farrar, Mrs. Ruth Chase and Arthur Holt. From Chicago will come M. H. Besser, Arthur Glett, Ralph Kempner and Charles Rilling. The Cincinnati region will be represented by Eli Brown III, Malcolm Crawford, Vernon Shalleross and H. Whitwell Wales, Jr. Out of Los Angeles the friends of W. B. Hanner, H. W. Pemberton, R. Puffer and Clarence Strouse will watch the results. Mrs. Charles Norwood, William Hill, Jr., Fred Slater and Dr. Richard Ecker are playing their home grounds, Omaha, Nebraska, looks to Manning M. Handler, Charles M. Martin, Farnham E. Waters and Morris Ferer to bring back the title Philadelphia, City of Brotherly Love, is sending Charles J. Solomon, Edward G. Ellenbogen, Louis Golder, Edward Goodman and Dr. J. W. Shallcross, a five-man team.

Besides these are M. P. Kaiser, Karl R. Oehs, Raymond Coffman and Alvin Novak from St. Louis, Missouri; M. C. Breen, Sidney Lereelski, Myron Emrich and Eugene Hertz from Santa Fe, New Mexico, and Mr. and Mrs. James H. Lemon, 1933 national pairs champions. Richard H. Wood and Leroy Thurtell from Washington, D.C.

This year the programme of events has been lengthened to include an open pairs championship of the United States, carrying no residential or qualification restrictions. Everybody can get in it. There is also an open mixed pair and team championship under the same conditions.

SAFETY FIRST

An expert player will sometimes make a safety play to assure his contract and thereby lost the extra trick. The expert is well satisfied with this, because at rubber bridge the safety of the contract is paramount. It sometimes happens, however, that poetic justice prevails.

Dr. H. J. Vogen reports an interesting safety play which resulted in his securing two extra tricks instead of losing one.

1. North must bid his four-card suit first to be able to show both suits, without exaggerating the strength of his hand.

THE PLAY

West opened the three of clubs, East winning with the ace, and returning the deuce. South ducked, and the queen made, whereupon West exited with a third round of the suit. On these rounds dummy let go two spades. Declarer did not want to let East in the lead to push a spade through. He therefore commenced developing the diamonds with a low lead to the ace. When West dropped the jack, the next play was a return lead and finesse of the ten. Of course, this was more than a mere finesse. It was a safety play against letting East in the lead. When the ten won, the diamonds were cashed, South discarding a low spade. The heart queen gave re-entry to the South hand. South cashed the last club at the tenth trick, and West was squeezed. West at this point held three hearts and the spade ace. To let go a heart would establish dummy's three diamonds, so he took the only chance by discarding the spade ace. South cashed the king and took the last two tricks with his top hearts.

C.G.I.T. Leaders Hear Reports of All Activities

The February meeting of the Victoria C.G.I.T. Leaders' Council was held in the Y.W.C.A. on Tuesday evening. The meeting opened with a sing-song, when Miss L. McCall introduced the new song book to the leaders. The president introduced Miss Ritchie, of Grace United Church, Saskatoon, who is a visitor in Victoria at the present time.

Miss Olive Lynn presented the report of the publicity committee, followed by an announcement of the finance campaign, which will be in progress until March 8. In presenting her report of the annual meeting of the Girls' Work Board in Vancouver, Mrs. A. J. Daniels urged all groups to make a special effort to raise their allocation, and stated the finance programme of the R.E.C. for the coming year is to be a "balanced budget." Miss Lilian Parfitt, who also attended the Vancouver meeting, mentioned the increasing scope of C.G.I.T. work in British Columbia, and voiced the appreciation of the movement to the girls' work secretary, Miss Anne Fountain.

NEXT MEETING

The programme committee reported that the next meeting would be held at the Y.W.C.A. on Tuesday, March 19, and that Miss Ella Cameron would address the gathering on "Dramatics."

Friday, March 8, was announced as the world's day of prayer.

After the adjournment of the formal business meeting, a discussion group was formed under the leadership of Miss Lilian Parfitt to consider "Problems Dealing With Worship." The meeting closed with a fellowship service led by Mrs. Maude Hammond.

Miss Freda Williamson, of Vancouver, will be the guest for the next few weeks at "Brierholme," the home of her aunt, Mrs. Irene Jonas.

There is a reluctance against the recital of the Lord's Prayer in certain Scottish churches, especially in the Highlands. This is due, according to The Christian World, of London, to a decided reaction since the Reformation against Roman ideas and practices.

Canadian Fisheries Show Large Gain in Year's Landed Value

All Sea Provinces of Dominion Favored With Bigger and Better Returns for Fish Products in 1934

Production from the Dominion's fisheries in 1934, calculated from unrevised statistics collected and compiled by the Federal Department of Fisheries, had a landed value to the fishermen amounting approximately to $15,672,000, or about 20 per cent more than the 1933 total as shown by the final figures for that year.

Landed value, which means the value of the catch to the fishermen as landed, increased in all five sea fisheries provinces (British Columbia, Quebec, Prince Edward Island, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia), but the largest gains were in Nova Scotia, where there was a betterment of $1,210,000, and in British Columbia, where the increase was $804,000.

The total catch for the year amounted to 8,435,000 hundredweights, as against 7,453,700 hundredweights in 1933. There was increased production in each of the five provinces.

The following figures set out the 1934 catches and landed value, by provinces, but in all cases it must be kept in mind the figures are given subject to revision: British Columbia, 3,541,000 hundredweights, value $7,107,100; Nova Scotia, 2,348,580 hundredweights, value $4,607,240; New Brunswick, 1,312,140 hundredweights, value $1,859,120; Quebec, 1,000,000 hundredweights, value $1,400,000; Prince Edward Island, 232,930 hundredweights, valued at $699,100.

PILCHARDS PUZZLING

Outstanding features of the year's operations included a sharp rise in salmon catch and landed value in British Columbia, accompanied by an increase of about 300,000 cases in the pack of canned salmon; an increase of almost $900,000 in the landed value of the lobster catch in the Atlantic Provinces, notwithstanding the total catch was smaller than in 1932; and an increase of some 50,000 hundredweights in the output of dried cod and other dried fish on the Atlantic Coast. There was also a very large increase in the Pacific Coast pilchard catch, but in this connection it is to be remembered that 1933 was a year when, for some puzzling reason, pilchards were abnormally scarce in British Columbia areas where they are usually present in abundance.

The British Columbia salmon catch was 1,559,000 hundredweights, as compared with 1,302,510 hundredweights in the year before, and it had a landed value of $5,340,150, a gain of more than $1,466,000. Firmer prices combined with greater production to lift the value. The output of canned salmon was about 1,565,000 cases and in 1933 it was only 1,265,072 cases. The sockeye pack reached 370,860 cases, a quantity well above the normal average in the previous decade.

Blazing New Trails Over Northland

Not satisfied with an already long list of outstanding achievements, this airplane, the only all-metal trimotor in use in Canada, is writing more history under the expert guidance of Pilot Grant McConachie, of United Air Transport. In 1928 this big machine rescued Baron Gunther von Huenfeld, Capt. James Fitzmaurice and Capt. Hermann Koehl, after they were first down in the first East to West trans-Atlantic flight on lonely Greenly Island off the coast of Labrador. Then it flew the mother of Colonel Charles Lindbergh from Mexico City to New York, when the latter was making his North and South American flight. Now it is blazing new trails in Northern Canada, carrying out perishable white fish from the Buffalo Lake Post, Sask., to Cheecham, Alberta, for quick shipment to Chicago and New York. McConachie is one of Canada's outstanding northern flyers.

Little Stories for Bedtime

Reddy Fox Loses a Chicken

—By THORNTON W. BURGESS—

"It's just a matter of time and patience," muttered Reddy to himself

Reddy Fox was very pleased with himself as he thought how much smarter he was than Old Man Coyote. He didn't waste any time in pushing open the henyard gate. It didn't enter his head that there might be a trap inside. He was so eager to find out if the little door where in daytime the hens ran in and out of the henhouse was open that he jumped inside the henyard just as soon as the gate was open wide enough for him to.

Old Man Coyote, watching from his hiding place, saw Reddy push the gate open and enter the henyard. "So far, so good," muttered Old Man Coyote to himself. "There isn't any trap just inside that gate, so it will be safe enough for me to follow Reddy in there. I think I'll wait a bit, however, and see what luck he has in getting into the henhouse. If he catches a chicken he won't stop to eat it there. He won't dare to. All I need do is to wait right here around the corner, and if he brings a chicken out, I'll simply tell him to drop it. Then I will have the chicken and will have run no risk." You see Old Man Coyote is a very, very clever old sinner.

So Old Man Coyote peeked through the wires and watched Reddy Fox, who thought himself so much smarter, steal swiftly across to the henhouse and try that little door. It was closed, but it wasn't fastened, as Reddy could tell by poking at it..

"It is just a matter of time and patience," muttered Reddy to himself. "If I keep at it long enough I can work it open." You see Reddy had done that very thing once before a great while ago.

So he set himself to work with such patience as he could, and all the time Old Man Coyote watched and wondered what Reddy was doing. He guessed that Reddy was having some trouble, but he also knew from Reddy's actions that Reddy hoped to get inside that henhouse.

Now, Reddy had left the henyard gate ajar. If he had pushed it wide open things might have been different. But he didn't push it wide open. He left it only half way open. By and by there happened along a mischievous little Night Breeze. There is nothing that a mischievous little Night Breeze enjoys more than making things move. This mischievous little Night Breeze found that that gate would swing, so it blew against that gate and blew and blew until suddenly with a sharp little click the gate closed and the spring latch snapped into place. Reddy Fox was a prisoner.

SHOCKED BY QUEER FISH

Electric Skate Shot Heavy Charge of "Juice" Into Fishermen

Here's a fish story that is different. It was told by Captain J. J. Moore at the last meeting of the Thermopylae Club:

"When a young fellow, I was in a sailing drifter, fishing mackerel off the west coast of Ireland. At the time I tell about we were drifting about twenty miles southwest of the Fastnet Rock, landing our catch every day aboard a hulk full of ice and a deckload of boxes at Baltimore.

"The practice aboard the drifter was to set our gear at sundown every night, hauling it in again at midnight. The length of our gear when set would be from one and one-half to two miles. The nets floated on top of the water, like the salmon nets on this Coast. We would drift from two to five hours if the weather wasn't too bad, and it would take us from three to five hours to haul the gear, according to the catch.

TANGLED IN NET

"We were hauling the gear one morning and had taken a fair catch, between two and three thousand mackerel. I remember it was just breaking day when we noticed in the belly of the net two skates, as we thought. One we shook clear, but the other was tangled in the net, and we had to take it on deck.

"The hand that was hauling the foot of the net cleared it, and when he grabbed the fish to cast it overboard, he jumped a good foot off the deck and dropped the skate like a hot potato. His mate on the top line asked, 'What's the matter? Throw it clear.' He answered, 'Throw it clear yourself.' He tried, and I believe he jumped a little bit higher as he took hold. The capstan was stopped, as everybody became interested.

"Sensing something out of the ordinary, the skipper, who acts as engineer on a drifter when hauling, looking after the donkey boiler, came along. He wanted to know what the hold-up was about. The boys said there was no hold-up, only a new brand of fish. He said throw it clear and carry on. He was told to throw it clear himself. A little bit nettled, he grabbed hold, but not for long. Landing on his feet again, he was just as curious as the rest of us.

LANDED ON DECK

"To make a long story short, we got it in the bight of the net and landed it on the foredeck. It appeared just an ordinary skate, and we carried on with the hauling of the net. That morning I was forward hand, loosing stoppers and hauling the foot-lines close to the drifter's side. On my way forward to loose a stopper, I could not resist the temptation to step on the skate. I was wearing a pair of Baltic Sea boots, with plenty of brass nails in the heels. I stamped on it all right, but as I did so it sure shot the juice into me. I believe if there had been an electric bulb on each hair of my head, a fine illumination would have resulted. I guess I got all it had.

"The fish proved to be an electric skate, which can produce an electric charge when attacked. In all my fishing experience, both drifting and trawling, I have only encountered about six of them. I believe in the Spring months they go around in pairs, close to the top of the water. That is about all I know of them, and I'm sure that is about all I want to know."

MANY LIVES LOST IN CAPSIZING OF CHINESE STEAMER

SHANGHAI, Feb. 20 (AP).—The sinking of the coastal steamer Fu-Lung early this week claimed 250 lives, according to details of the disaster received here today.

Two hundred civilians, men, women and children, and fifty soldiers perished when the Fu-Lung capsized allegedly as the result of overloading. Only one woman survived.

The disaster occurred off the rocky coast of Wuhuko, 100 miles north of this port.

SALMON TRADE WILL BE GOOD

San Francisco Authority Sees General Advance in Prices Generally

A salmon factor says: "There appears to be a softening. In our opinion, this is misleading for the following brief reasons: A few free-lance Coast selling agents were able to either pick, or anticipate that they could do so, salmon under the going market. They circularized brokers and the trade generally. Some business on off-grade stock (and doubtless on some good salmon) was done. It cast a depressing influence on the market when the facts did not so warrant.

"First of all, the heaviest consuming period for canned salmon is during the Spring, Summer and Fall seasons. A few buyers had, and others thought they had, overbought.

BUYING POWER

"Meat and prices on most food items comparable to canned salmon are advancing, and will continue to advance. There will be an acute Spring business in all lines. This means more employment and a general increase in buying power.

"There will be no pinks or sockeye salmon packed on Puget Sound —this is the off-cycle year. The Washington State legislation eliminating traps will curtail the pack in the state about 40 per cent. Bristol Bay, Alaska (reds), is closed for 1935.

"We feel certain that prices will advance above the present market by the middle of April and probably before that date."

VANCOUVER SHIPPING

VANCOUVER, Feb. 20 (CP).—Following a meeting in Seattle between buyers and vessel owners from the Sound city port, Prince Rupert and Vancouver, it was indicated that the halibut fishing season would not be actively resumed until April 1, a month after the season officially opens.

A further meeting will be held at Seattle next Tuesday to discuss the possibility of establishing a minimum price.

PLAYHOUSE HAS MOVING DRAMA

Jean Parker Plays Leading Role in "Lazy River"—Plot Is Intriguing

The mysterious backwater Bayous of Louisiana—the "Cajuns," least known of all American peoples—the smuggling of Chinese on the Gulf Coast—and romance under warm Southern skies are all blended into "Lazy River," new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer drama that opens today at the Playhouse Theatre.

Heading the cast of this unusual offering are Jean Parker and Robert Young as the young lovers, who bring fast-moving adventure and conflict into the sheltered world of an obscure fishing village. Both give portrayals that surpass all of their recent efforts, including Young's role in "Carolina" and Miss Parker's great triumphs in "Little Women."

C. Henry Gordon, who has scored on the screen in many "heavy" roles, attempts a new portrayal as a Chinese smuggler who menaces the happiness of Young and Parker; Irene Franklin, whose hilarious performance as the inebriate murderess in "Women in His Life" brought her instant acclaim, is seen in another comedy role as a French cook.

Columbia

CAPITOL THEATRE "Biography of a Bachelor Girl," the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film now playing at the Capitol Theatre, with Ann Harding and Robert Montgomery co-starred, is said to present the brightest dialogue ever to come out of Hollywood. Care was taken to preserve the original lines from the stage play, "Biography," written by S. N. Behrman. Anita Loos, of "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes" fame, did the adaptation.

Columbia Offers Adventure Film

"Samarang," B. F. Zeidman's spectacular production for United Artists' release and showing today at the Columbia Theatre, claims many points of originality.

First among its attributes is the character of the leading players. They are natives of Malaysia.

Ahmang, the hero's name, not only competes with modern Adonises in physique but in the water. In fact, he goes them one better by wrestling with a man-eating shark before the camera's lens.

"Samarang" shows the hazards of pearl diving. In fact, it might be said that the whole picture revolves around a pearl, for the pearl is the prize which Ahmang hopes to find on the ocean's bottom, so that he can wed his sweetheart, who is a chieftain's daughter, and therefore, prohibited from marrying him. However, he sets out to win the pearl, and thereafter unfolds the story of romance and thrills.

"The Man From Utah," John Wayne's latest Western thriller, is the added attraction. Wayne, who has rapidly risen to the fore as the ace of Western stars, is the only actor actively engaged in this type of role in Hollywood at the present time.

CLAUDETTE COLBERT SINGS IN NEW FILM

Claudette Colbert's golden singing voice, object of many radio offers, but heard only once before on the screen in "Torch Singer," is a feature of her new Paramount film, "The Gilded Lily," coming today to the Dominion Theatre.

With several numbers, written especially for her by Arthur Johnston and Sam Coslow, Miss Colbert's specialty is a song called "Something About Romance."

In "The Gilded Lily," Claudette Colbert has two leading men, Fred MacMurray and Ray Milland, both comparative newcomers to the screen. C. Aubrey Smith, Edward Craven and George Bradley are in the supporting cast.

"The Gilded Lily" presents Miss Colbert as a hard-working stenographer with one ambition in life—to marry a poor man and strive with him. When she does fall, however, it is for a millionaire English nobleman in disguise. She learns the truth, turns him down and becomes overnight the sensation of two continents as the "no" girl.

Music Teachers Elect Officers For Coming Year

The addition to the Victoria Public Library of a number of books on the subject of music was brought to the attention of the Victoria branch of the British Columbia Music Teachers' Federation at its annual meeting at the Y.W.C.A. yesterday.

The special business of the meeting was the election of officers, which resulted as follows:

President, Reginald Cox (re-elected); vice-president, Mrs. Marion McGovern; recording secretary, Miss Nora Sherwood; corresponding secretary, Miss Enid Cole-Gurney; treasurer, Oliver Stout; auditor, Miss Marie George. Executive committee, George J. Dyke, Mrs. Miller, Miss Tebo and Edgar Holloway.

Reports covered the activities of the past year, that of the secretary including a special tribute to the splendid pioneer work done by Dr J. E. Watson for the federation in its beginnings. The treasurer's report showed a gratifying balance, despite the fact that expenditure had been heavier during the past year.

LIQUOR CASES TAKE UP TIME OF COURT

Yesterday morning in the city police court was given over to the consideration of contraventions of the liquor regulations. As a result, Lee Kee was fined $50 and $5 costs for having liquor in a restaurant.

In addition to this, a trio was arraigned on various charges connected with having liquor illegally. Joseph McDougal was charged with having supplied liquor to Francis Lazzar, an Indian. James Reid was likewise charged with having supplied the Indian with loganberry wine.

Constable Thomas Stephenson testified to having found the three together and had secured the bottle of liquor. He was not sure who had supplied it to the Indian, but he saw it passing. Reid denied he had anything to do with the passing of the liquor. He had come on the other two in an alley, but he did not purchase the liquor for the Indian. He said he was an interdict, so he would not be able to get the liquor.

In the end McDougal was sentenced to a month in jail. The Indian was fined $25 and Reid's charge was withdrawn.

DAVID SPENCER LIMITED

Remember the Firemen's Ball AT THE EMPRESS HOTEL FRIDAY EVENING FEBRUARY 22

What Today Means

"PISCES"

If February 21 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8:45 to 10:45 a.m., from 1:45 to 3:45 p.m. and from 8:45 to 10:45 p.m. The danger periods are from 6:45 to 8:45 a.m., from 3:45 to 5:45 p.m. and from 10:45 p.m. until midnight.

Your friendship may be subjected to a very severe strain on this February 21. It might be well to remember circumstantial evidence often turns out to be unsupported by facts, so think well before accepting it. A tendency to procrastinate may be noticeable among executives in the commercial world on this date, so the acme of salesmanship may be required to secure firm orders. Try to avoid having to make excuses, as only the most plausible may be accepted. Currency will possibly circulate freely in certain circles, but will be a scarce commodity in some highly specialized lines of trade, and for some home requirements. Entertainments of a social nature should prove very successful. This is an auspicious day for extending invitations, as well as planning friendly gatherings. Married and engaged couples, as well as those expecting or about to make a proposal, should weigh their words carefully if tempted to make an angry retort to a sarcastic comment.

If a woman and February 21 is your birthday, it is likely to prove a turning point in the right direction, if you will make up your mind to regard things in an optimistic light, and will not allow discouragement to interfere with your efforts. You may receive not only important but welcomed news. Outside influences are likely to be responsible for a stroke of good luck, which is likely to come to you in an unexpected manner. Love will possibly dominate your domestic affairs in a highly satisfactory way. Secretarial work, interior decorating, office or tearoom management, the concert stage and teaching are among the lines of activity in which you should do well.

The child born on February 21, usually when it reaches its teens, possesses an amount of self-assurance that will help it greatly both in school and socially.

If a man and February 21 is your natal day, your sense of justice, as well as ideas of discipline, qualify you for executive or administrative work. By directing the efforts of others you can get greater results than if you try to do things yourself. Educational, factory or business management, newspaper or other forms of publication work, or chemistry may give you the opportunity to prove your real worth. Marriage should be the logical thing for you, as you would probably get a great deal of joy through it.

Davidans Capture Hoop Game From Local Team, 22-20

Bearded Hoopsters Nose Out Blue Ribbons by Lone Basket After Exciting Fixture—Art Chapman Heads Local Scoring Brigade —Preliminary Ends in Draw

The touring House of David cagers chalked up another two-point victory yesterday evening at the Victoria High School Gymnasium, when they nosed out the Victoria Blue Ribbons, former Canadian basketball champions, 22-20, in the second and final fixture of the two-game exhibition series.

In a preliminary game crammed with exciting moments, Hoyle-Brown and West Road, men's senior "B" hoop squads, battled to a 27-27 score. Hoyle-Brown gained a 15-11 lead in the initial half, but the boys from the suburban district fought back gamely in a thrilling final canto which saw the score knotted many times.

BEWHISKERED RIBBONS

Ribbons came on the floor bedecked with whiskers, and judging by the thunderous applause that greeted their appearance, the fans enjoyed the show. "Rube" Martin, with his red whiskers, and his equally bright hat, drew rounds of applause as he juggled three oranges in masterful fashion, while his teammates warmed up prior to the game. Even Manager J. A. "Barney" Barnwell, and his little son, Jackie, who by the way is quite young to be growing a beard, had their whiskers all trimmed up to complete the act.

With two bearded cage teams ready for action the game got under way, and it was exactly five minutes before there was any scoring. Members of the Ribbons' team "clowned" in great fashion, and the fans liked it. The boys pulled a number of tricks out of the bag of the House of David squad that visited here last season, and even the present Davidans had to smile at the clever antics.

House of David ran the score to 9-2, and then the locals pulled up to within two points of their opponents, but the visitors sank a couple of field baskets before the half-time gong sounded, and were leading, 13-7, as the teams left the floor for the rest interval.

DAVIDANS IN LEAD

The Davidans made it 17-7, and then the Blue Ribbons brought their long range guns into action in spectacular fashion. With Chuck and Art Chapman, the brother team of the locals, sinking a number of long shots, the fans went wild with excitement, and when Alec McKeachie tied the score at 17-17, the crowd howled with delight. Seconds later Chuck Chapman sank a beautiful long shot to give the Ribbons a 19-17 lead, and the bewhiskered lads from Benton Harbor, Michigan, called time out, five minutes before the end of the game.

Soon after the resumption, Dean Curtis slapped in a rebound from a foul shot by Hickman, and then tipped the leather home again seconds later to give his colleagues a 21-19 lead, with one minute and thirty seconds to go. Iba sank a foul shot and at the other end of the court Art Chapman concluded the scoring for the evening when he scored on a free toss.

LeMarquand refereed.

EQUIPOISE TO BE ON SPOT ON SATURDAY

Whitney Horse Will Face "Jinx" When He Races in $100,000 Event

By PAUL ZIMMERMAN

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 20 (AP).—When Equipoise goes to the post in the Santa Anita $100,000 handicap here Saturday seeking the title of leading money winner of all time, he will be face to face with the fact that no favorite has thundered under the wire in front in any of the big stake events of the current meeting.

The C. V. Whitney runner, in great shape, needs to win this race if he is to surpass Sun Beau's total earnings of $376,744, for this probably will be his last season on the track. Ekky's winnings total $334,110, and the more than $100,000 he would bring home would set him far out in front should he successfully pack top impost of 130 pounds.

ON THE SPOT

But it hasn't been done by any of the favorites here this Winter and some of them went to the gate odds on, just as the seven-year-old king of the turf world.

Equipoise faces plenty of obstacles. In the first place the handicap promises to be a hard race, with some twenty thoroughbreds expected to go to the post.

He will carry four more pounds than any of his rivals and as much as thirty more than some. And with a host of promising sprinters in the event, Ekky probably will have to come from behind to win.

Played in Main Match

Victoria High Fifteen Captures Rugby Trophy

Scores 13-0 Victory Over Oak Bay High School in Second Fixture of Russell Cup Series—Winners Play Fine Ball

Victoria High School ruggers yesterday wrested the coveted Howard Russell Trophy from a fighting Oak Bay High School fifteen by a sterling 13 to 0 win. This win broke the Oak Bay High School's winning streak—for they possessed the Howard Russell Cup during the last two seasons. Yesterday's win by Victoria High School terminated a two-game battle between these two institutions, Victoria having won the first match 16-0.

Oak Bay High School kicked off with the downhill grade in their favor. The Oak Bay lads soon centred play around the Victoria High School twenty-five-yard line, and for a minute looked in a dangerous scoring position, but the pressure was relieved by Les Bridge, who kicked into touch. The Victoria boys gained valuable ground time and again by long kicks while the Oak Bay fifteen depended almost wholly upon their forwards to gain ground. The Oak Bay forward attacks were broken up frequently by Taro Yoneda, plucky scrum half for Victoria High School, with the aid of his stalwart pack.

OPENING SCORE

Soon after the opening whistle and during one of Oak Bay's deep drives into Victoria High School territory, Ferguson intercepted a pass and handed the leather to "Yosh" Ishida, who galloped up the field to score between the posts. The run was over sixty yards in length and was one of the outstanding feats pulled during the game.

Jack Cosier converted easily from in front of the goal to bring the Victoria High School scoring total at half-time to five points.

The Victoria high fifteen, kicking deep into Oak Bay territory to open the second half, had the Oak Bay boys worried, but one of Oak Bay's hard working forwards found touch well up the field.

Soon afterwards Oak Bay was called up for feet-up in the scrum, and Cosier again booted the pigskin between the uprights to boost the Victoria high score to 8-0.

This score by Cosier must have been a sign for Oak Bay to attack, for they soon brought the play inside Victoria High School's twenty-five-yard line. Holding the play here, Oak Bay came within inches of crossing the Victoria line, but the defence was impenetrable. Probably if Oak Bay had played more to their three-quarters and not left so much of the burden to the forwards the score would have been a bit different.

FERGUSON GOES OVER

Victoria High relieved with a series of three-quarter runs, and on a fine threes run outside the Oak Bay twenty-five, which saw Yoneda, Speed, Bridge and Ferguson handle the ball, the latter went over between the posts. Cosier converted to bring the Victoria total to thirteen points. The game ended soon after.

Wally Brynjolfson refereed.

The teams were:

Victoria High School — Russell, Bray, C. Lanigan, Colvin, Stuart, Doheney, Noel, Yoneda, Speed, Ishida, Kirkbride, Smith, Bridge, Ferguson and Cosier.

Oak Bay High School—Langton, B. Murdock, R. Murdock, Murray, Sheppard, Green, Yates, Ross, Robertson, Ley, Appleyard, Brown, Pierce, McKay and Page.

Adanacs Defeat Varsity Cagers in Opening Game

NEW WESTMINSTER, Feb. 20 (CP).—New Westminster Adanacs came from behind tonight to nose out University of British Columbia, 34-30, in the first of their three-out-of-five series for the Inter-City League basketball title.

At the end of the first half it looked as if the collegians would win easily. Playing the same brand of smart ball that toppled the Canadian champions, Province, last week, the students ran up a 24-11 lead by half time.

Adanacs came to life, however, in the second session, and led by the two veterans, Wally Mayers and Doug Fraser, crept up on even terms with the collegians, then flipped in a pair of baskets in the closing minutes for the victory.

Fraser and Mayers with ten and nine points, respectively, were high scorers for the Adanacs. Bardsley with ten and Willoughby with eight, led the Varsity attack.

MACHINE FOR TIMING TRIAL GREAT DEVICE

Electrical Timer Has Been in Use Since 1912—Cost $25,000

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Feb 20 (AP). — The $25,000 electrical machine that times the automobile record runs down Daytona's beach stays in the safe of the hotel headquarters for Sir Malcolm Campbell's party when it is not in action.

Oddie Porter, who has timed about everything that is mechanically swift since 1912, thinks it is safer there than under his bed.

It's a most amazing piece of electrical magic, weighs only seventy pounds, fits into a suitcase like a set of burglar tools, could be duplicated now for $3,000, and is to Oddie as the Spirit of St. Louis was to Colonel Lindbergh.

Give Oddie five minutes' warning and he'll measure the speed of whathave-you down to one-hundredth of a second.

The electrical timer was developed for the Indianapolis Speedway races, and refined by Porter, a sixty-year-old Indianapolis electrical engineer.

With it he has clocked the 500-mile races at Indianapolis since 1912, the Pulitzer and Schneider Cup air races, regattas, and Gar Wood's motorboat speed trials. His present job is to time Sir Malcolm Campbell when the beach smooths to the point where the Englishman can aim to better his present 272.108-mile mark.

ALONG BEACH

Wires attached to electric circuits at the timing machine are stretched across the beach at various points through the middle distances of the eleven and one-half-mile course, forming eight "traps." Five of them measure off miles. Their total makes five miles, for which Campbell also holds the record.

He also is timed for the one and five-kilometre records, also his.

The centre mile and kilometre, which is roughly five-eighths of a mile, is where he always had made his fastest time.

As he hits these wires rolling down the beach they automatically register on the machine in the timing booth. As the wire is pressed down by Bluebird's wheels, the time at that instant, in minutes, seconds and hundreds of seconds, is stamped on a roll of paper in the machine.

WANTS BEACH RAKED

Campbell pleaded with authorities today to rake over the bumps and furrows on the beach, giving the tides a better chance to smooth the course, without success.

"I'm thoroughly convinced that unless the beach is scraped we never will have that mile in shape," he said. "I've asked them time and again to get out the mules and scrapers. They've done a little, but won't do more."

TRIUMPH OVER BAYS IN FEATURE MATCH; MACCABEES ADVANCE

Dick Bradley's Great Goal in Late Minutes of Game Gives Spencers 1-0 Decision Over Departmental Rivals—Clubmen Beat Garrison—Navy Beats Rangers, 3-1

PENDRAY CUP SERIES

	W.	L.	D.	F.	A.	Pt.
Spencers	3	0	1	8	6	7
Maccabees	2	0	2	8	4	6
Hudson's Bay	2	1	1	13	4	5
Rangers	1	3	0	7	11	2
Navy	1	2	0	3	10	2
Garrison	0	3	0	2	7	0

Nosing out the Hudson's Bay, 1-0, yesterday afternoon, at the Royal Athletic Park, in a bitterly-contested fixture, Spencers' midweek soccer eleven slid gently into first berth in the Pendray Cup race, one point in front of the Maccabees, second berth occupants. The lodgemen entrenched themselves safely behind Spencers and ahead of the Hudson's Bay, when they chalked up a 2-1 victory over the Garrison at Heywood Avenue. Navy, after dropping two straight games, finally broke into the win column when they defeated the Outer Wharf Rangers, 3-1, at Admirals Road grounds.

Next week's fixtures, which will terminate the first half of the series, will see the league leaders battling the Navy at Heywood Avenue, and the second-place Maccabees opposing the Outer Wharf Rangers at Beacon Hill. Hudson's Bay will journey to Work Point Barracks to complete the Wednesday afternoon soccer programme.

A sizzling drive from the toe of Dick Bradley, bustling left halfback, twelve minutes from the end of the match, gave Spencers a sweet 1-0 victory over the Hudson's Bay at the enclosure. It was a great win for the Diamond "S" boys, and a tough defeat for the green and gold sweatered lads who, until yesterday, were riding along at the top of the series.

Brilliant net-minding by Stewartson, and good defensive work by Lloyd Cann and Dal Munroe, fullbacks, prevented Hudson's Bay from gaining a lead in the initial half, when they had an edge in the play.

In the final session, particularly towards the end, when they put on their final offensive, which culminated with the winning marker, Spencers fought stubbornly and were the more dangerous eleven.

Bays opened on the offensive, and after a few minutes Harold Sage, centre forward, banged the ball over the crossbar when only a few feet from the goal. Seconds later Stevens skied over the bar.

BLOCKS DRIVE

Carrying play to the other end of the field, Spencers came close to scoring, but a terrific drive by Bernie Clarke was blocked by Wyatt and O'Connell finally cleared. A few minutes later Don Fish, Hudson's Bay right winger missed good chance when close to the net. Keeping up the pressure, the Bays forced Stewartson to save four times in quick succession. His most spectacular save was of Fish's high drive just under the crossbar.

Spencers finally cleared this dangerous offensive, and then at the other end of the field, Bernie Clarke, diamond "S" centre forward, hit the crossbar with only Baxter to beat.

Bays returned the attack as the half neared completion and only the phenomenal work of Stewartson, their goalie, and the fine kicking of Munroe and Cann kept the fighting green and gold eleven from scoring.

The clubs battled through thirty-seven scoreless minutes in an exciting second-half, and for a while it looked as if the match would end in a scoreless draw. However, Dick Bradley, bustling halfback, upset any chances of this happening, when he scored with a hard drive from almost centre field. It was a great shot. The ball hit under the crossbar and bounced down just over the line for one of the best goals seen here for a long time.

Fighting to avert defeat, Hudson's Bay battled back in the last few minutes, but could not get by the stonewall defence offered by the battling Spencers eleven, and when the final whistle sounded the Bays had to admit defeat.

McMillan referced and the teams follow:

Spencers — Stewartson; Munroe, Cann; R. Bradley, Moir, L. Bradley; Brown, Chapman, Clarke, Borde and Luxton.

MACCABEES TRIUMPH

Don Newell's goal late in the second half, breaking a first half tie gave Maccabees a 2-1 decision over the Garrison in a lively fixture played before a crowd of 250 fans at the Heywood Avenue grounds.

Although the Maccabees came through with a win, the team was ragged in front of the goal. The forwards were missing shots which should easily have registered as goals. Smart work by Barker, netminder for the Tommies, kept the score down.

Barker at all times was cool and many of his saves were sensational. The backfield of the Maccabees worked smoothly during the game.

COOK REGISTERS

Shortly after the game started, Cook, tricky forward of the Garrison, cut in front of the Maccabees' net and let drive a fast ball to score. The ball went into the corner of the net and Harris was left flat-footed. Some ten minutes later, Newell registered the equalizer, when he went down left wing on a solo jaunt, cut into the goal and drove in a beauty.

The Garrison was pushing at the half. Play was even during the greater part of second half, although the best football was displayed by the Maccabees. They, however, lacked finish and missed opportunities time and again. The Garrison fought like wild men and were pressing dangerously at the end of the game.

LAST TALLY

The final score came shortly before time when Newell tapped in Wilmshurst's corner, which had bounced off the cross bar as Barker attempted to hoist the ball over the bar.

Ralph Alcock handled the whistle.

Teams follow:

Garrison—Parker, Eastick, Anderson, Pocock, Evans, Stewart, Cook, Miller, McAllister, Wilkinson and Warswick.

Maccabees — Harris, Speller, Wilmshurst, Embrey, Fieldhouse, Hill, Graves, A. Murray, McLellan, J. Murray and Newell.

NAVY WINS

Running in two goals in the final half, to break a 1-1 deadlock at the rest interval, Navy registered their initial win in the Pendray Cup series, when they defeated the Outer Wharf Rangers 3-1 at Admirals Road grounds.

Grierson, clever sailor forward, opened the scoring fifteen minutes from the start of the game when he beat Fleming, Rangers' goalie, with a well-placed shot at close range. Minutes later Grierson failed to score from a spot kick.

Rangers had the better of the second half, but the smart work of Mundie, sailor goalie, prevented them from adding to their total. Two penalties were awarded the Outer Wharf eleven in this canto. White hit the post with the first shot, and Mundie made a sensational save from McConnell, who took the second free kick.

Breaking fast after a heavy attack on their citadel Navy took the lead when Reid banged the leather into the net that Fleming was guarding, and then towards the end of the match, Grierson's shot was deflected into the Rangers' net by one of their own players.

Shrimpton refereed and the teams follow:

Outer Wharf Rangers—Fleming; Lawrence, Belford; J. McKinnon, McConnell, Roskamp, A. McKinnon, Tivey, White, Davidson and Eastwood.

ABDEL KHAN TO OPPOSE LA RUE

Undefeated Grapplers Are Matched for Main Event at Tillicum Gym

Promoter Fred Richardson, local impresario, is a happy man today. Successful in matching Johnny La Rue, Oklahoma, and Abdel Khan, Afghanistan, for the main event of Saturday's squirm card at the Tillicum gymnasium, the local promoter feels that he has landed one of the best bouts of the season, and one that should be a crowd pleaser all of the way.

La Rue, smooth working and clever Oklahoman, is one of the smartest boys to show in the local squared circle for many a day, and while he prefers the clean style of wrestling, has shown in his previous matches that he can take the rough stuff. Last week, Ken Hollis, rugged New Orleans grappler, did little more than use rough tactics against La Rue, but the Oklahoma scissors expert finished him in exactly seventeen minutes.

Abdel Khan, colorful and bewhiskered grunt and groan expert from far away Afghanistan, is quite the reverse. He loves to use the rough stuff, and can certainly dish it out in fine style.

EXPLANATION FOR YESTERDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON

The Candle Fish—The Candle Fish or Oulakan (Thaleichthys Pacificus) is greenbacked seafish of the salmon family frequenting the northwestern shores of America. The Indians convert it into a candle by passing a strip of bark through it as a wick. When ignited its extreme oiliness will keep it blazing like a torch. The oil of the candlefish is also a favorite article of food in British Columbia.

Made in Sweden—Japan developed into a formidable competitor of the Swedish Match Trust through the extreme low wages paid to its labor. A Swedish worker receives a higher wage per day than his Japanese colleague will receive in a month. In addition the Japanese simply copied all the thousands of labels used by the Swedish Match Trust.

When it was found that the Japanese even imitated the legend "Made in Sweden," the Swedish Match Trust immediately took legal steps to stop them. But the Japanese naively pointed out that the labels were manufactured in a Japanese locality named "Sweden" expressly for this purpose.

TRIO OF OUTSIDERS LEFT IN MIDWINTER GOLF

Steil, McLarnin And Rust Remain In Championship

Fight Champion and Two Americans Still in Hunt for Beatty Trophy—Steil Beats Pretty in Open Event—McLarnin Advances in Handicap—Mrs. Gillespie Triumphs counted for Goldie Terry quite easily, 7 and 5.

Irving McDermott, medal winner, passed from the championship picture in the open when he bowed to E. J. Ketchum, Seattle, 5 and 4, and Jimmy McLarnin met his Waterloo at the hands of W. P. Bowden, Oak Bay, 3 and 2. H. L. Rust, another Seattle player, advanced at the expense of A. J. "Sandy" Marling, 3 and 2, and Dave Randall proved too steady for Howard Reid, winning handily, 7 and 5. Norm Fell took the measure of Harold Wilson, 4 and 3, and Art Christopher eliminated A. H. Ford by the same score.

Jimmy McLarnin kept in the running for the Beatty Trophy in the handicap only after a nip-and-tuck struggle with Art Christopher, which terminated on the nineteenth green. Steil moved into the quarter-finals by scoring a two-up verdict over Cedric Walker, and Rust won from A. J. Taylor by default. Ford went to the final green to beat E. Cuppage, one up, and Jimmy Simpson went into the next round by putting out Dave Randall, 4 and 3. Don McDiarmid stayed in the championship with a 4-and-2 triumph over H. U. Johnstone, while T. O. Mackay accounted for J. Hamilton, Vancouver, 4 and 3. Harold Wilson's victory was at D. A. Hamilton's expense, two up.

WOMEN REACH SEMIS

Besides Mrs. Gillespie, the following women went into the semi-finals of the championship: Mrs. E. D. Todd, Mrs. D. Fletcher and Mrs. E. M. Cuppage. Mrs. Todd was taken to the eighteenth green to beat Mrs. A. S. G. Musgrave, two up, and Mrs. Fletcher was on her game to register over Mrs. B. Johnson, 6 and 5. Miss Mary Campbell was the victim of Mrs. Cuppage's steady playing and was forced to admit defeat on the last green, one up.

In the first flight of the men's handicap event, three extra-hole matches were recorded. Ralph Whaley and Frank Wilkinson, Vancouver, went to the twentieth before the former came through, and W. P. Bowden lost at the nineteenth to C. A. Thompson, as did W. Munro to W. C. Fisher, Calgary.

Tournament officials announced yesterday that there was a mistake made Monday in announcing that Victoria district had won the inter-district honors. A check-up yesterday made a team from the Seattle district winners of the event with a gross total of 308. The individual scores follow: Lee Steil 74; H. L. Rust 77; Ralph Whaley 77; E. K. Ketchum 80.

Winners of the putting competitions each day, both women and men, will play off Saturday afternoon over eighteen holes for prizes donated by E. D. Todd.

Gordie Wallace Gains Close Fight Decision

Claimant to Canadian Welter Crown Given Narrow Verdict Over Sonny Jones in Twelve-Round Bout on the Mainland

VANCOUVER, Feb. 20 (CP).—Gordon Wallace, of Vancouver, claimant to the vacant Canadian welterweight boxing crown, scored a close twelve-round decision over Emperor Sonny Jones, also of Vancouver, here tonight.

Although Wallace received the unanimous decision of Referee Gil Martin and the two judges, the verdict was not received that way by all of the 5,000 fans who crowded into the arena. Many thought a draw would have been closer.

Wallace's vaunted punching power which carried him to a knockout over Billy Townsend and a technical knockout over Ronnie Headley in his two most recent bouts, failed to jar the dusky Jones.

In the third round Jones took a crushing right flush on the chin, grinned and tore into Wallace with a volley of rights and lefts to the head and body.

The saffron-hued Jones started slow as he cautiously felt out his opponent and let Wallace do most of the leading. Wallace captured the four of the first five rounds with the second about even.

The sixth was fairly even with Jones turning in a masterful exhibition of boxing, bobbing and weaving away from the smashing rights and lefts that Wallace threw his way and countering with an occasional left jab and right cross.

BOXING LESSON

For the next three rounds the dusky welter gave his opponent a lesson in boxing as he chased the tiring Wallace from corner to corner, peppering with both hands and whipping hard rights to the head in the clinches. In the ninth Jones battered Wallace with rights and lefts as he tore in trying for a knockout. Gordon, although hurt badly and missing most of the punches, hung on and weathered the storm of leather.

Both fighters stood toe to toe and slugged each other about the body in the tenth, with Jones getting a shade the better of the fighting as he clipped Wallace repeatedly about the side of the head in the clinches.

Wallace carried the right in the eleventh as he hammered Jones about the body with both hands.

Eagerness to score a knockout almost ended fatally for Jones in the final round when he dashed out and ran into a right to the head. Off balance at the time, the Negro slipped to one knee, then came up fighting to bang two rights to the stomach.

As the round ended, Jones sailed in with another two-fisted attack to the head, then switched to the body and Wallace was hanging on at the bell.

FOSTON SCORES K.O.

Alan Foston, of Vancouver, making his second appearance in his comeback after a two-year layoff, scored a technical knockout over Harry Miller, of Nanaimo, in the fifth round of their scheduled six-round semi-final.

Foston battered Miller around the ring for four rounds with a thudding body attack that left the Nanaimo fighter almost helpless in the fourth. A right to the eye opened an old cut over Miller's eye, and three left hooks opened the wound wider in the fifth, when Referee Martin stopped the fight. Foston weighed 131 1-2 pounds, six less than Miller.

Al Ford, of Vancouver, and Mickey Dodge, of California, fought six rounds to a draw in the preliminary.

MISS CORINNE TAKES FEATURE

Great Finish Gives Six-Year-Old Horse Fine Win at Santa Anita

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 20 (AP).—Miss Corinne, six-year-old brown mare, swept past Koterito and Primute in the stretch to win the mile and a sixteenth feature at Santa Anita Park today, crossing the wire in front by a half a length.

Primute opened up a good lead early but tired and finished third, five lengths back of Koterito in the five-horse field.

The time was 1.45 2-5, with the winner paying $5, $2.60 and $2.40. Koterito was claimed by P. L. Fuller for $1,750.

A Kentucky Derby favorite in 1934 won his maiden victory in the third here today when Sir Thomas, running in a $800 purse sprint defeated an unimpressive field.

The meeting will be closed with a $10,000 handicap at a mile and an eighth on March 9, officials of the Los Angeles Turf Club announced today.

Besides this, the San Juan Capistrano Handicap, a $2,500 race, the Santa Catalina Handicap, will be staged March 2 at a mile and a sixteenth.

All purses for the last two weeks of the current meeting, starting Monday, will have a minimum value of $1,000.

SEA HAWKS WHIP CALGARY EASILY

Northwest Hockey Leaders Come Through With 6-2 Victory on Prairie Ice

CALGARY, Feb. 20 (CP).—Seattle Sea Hawks swept through Calgary's team of the Northwestern Hockey League tonight to score a convincing 6-2 triumph, and strengthen their place at the top of the league standings.

After holding the Sea Hawks fairly even throughout the first two periods, the Calgary players, three of whom played the full sixty minutes, let the Seattle players sift through to score three goals in the last period.

Harold Tabor took part in five of his team's goals, scoring three himself and passing to Sammy McAdam and Johnny Hrabregs for another pair. Les Whittles scored the other on a pass from Dave Gilhooly. Calgary's two goals came in the first period, Cooney Kunzman batting in the first of Mike Veville's rebound, and Gordon McFarlane getting the other on a solo rush.

Gilhooly got the only penalty of the game in the second period, and while he was off, Smoky Harris saw three of his shots carome off Seattle sticks and into the seats at the end of the rink. A scanty crowd of 250 saw the game.

Remember When

(Twenty-Five Years Ago)

Of local sportsmen probably the busiest lot at present are the dog fanciers. With them the annual bench show is the event of the year and, this Spring, they expect that that held in Victoria is going to be larger than ever before, that it is going to be of such an exceptional character in many respects that it will be an eye-opener to the enthusiasts who will attend from outside points.

Already practically all the preparations have been made and, remarkable as it may seem, many entries have been received. As a rule it is not until within a week of the exhibition that owners wishing to compete sign and forward to the secretary the application forms drafted for the purpose, but they are doing so earlier this year, and thus materially helping those on whom rests the responsibility of making the arrangements.

Tonight the Nelson-Wolgast fight, the issue of which is the world's lightweight championship, takes place, and the interest among California's enthusiasts has been roused to fever heat. For the past two weeks the two have been busily engaged training and, between times, hurling defies at each other through the newspapers, promising dire things when facing one another within the squared arena. While the consensus of opinion appears to be that the battler will retain the crown that he has worn ever since he took the goat of Joe Gans, there are now a few who believe that the day of Nelson has departed, and that the young Dutchman will triumph.

Security Prices Drop Slightly at New York Mart

NEW YORK, Feb. 20 (AP).—The stock market appeared today to be suffering like a delayed hangover after its exhilaration over Monday's gold clause decision.

Turnover was 966,850 shares.

Dividend tidings including regular declarations by American Telephone, National Biscuit, and Texas Corp.

Some active issues in the stock market dropped back a point to around 2 points, including U.S. Steel at 35 1-4, Allied Chemical at 138, Union Pacific at 99, Santa Fe at 43 3-4, General Motors at 31 1-4, International Harvester at 40, and New York Central at 17.

Most losses were less than a point, however. In this group were Chrysler at 39 1-4, American Telephone at 103 1-2, Consolidated Gas at 16 3-8, Bethlehem at 29 7-8, General Electric at 24 1-8, Pennsylvania at 21 1-4, Sears Roebuck at 35 1-4 and Westinghouse at 40 1-8.

Losses outnumbered gains in the Canadian list.

The United States Government bond market failed to keep up the rapid pace of the previous session and prices were a trifle reactionary. Corporate bonds were mixed and the turnover was light.

The foreign list held steady.

TORONTO GOLDS TRADE SOFTER

McWatters and Lake Shore Gain as Others Recede Moderately

TORONTO, Feb. 20 (CP).—McWatters was the star performer in the mining section of the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Others trailed along but losses outnumbered gains at the close. Volume totaled 65,000 shares.

Increased production reports inspired McWatters to an advance of 4 cents. Lakeshore added 25 at 54, but McIntyre lost 1.25. Dome 50, Hollinger 25, Bralorne 20 and Teck Hughes 4. San Antonio was off 15 and Little Long Lac 10. Bradian and Bobjo also declined.

Prospectors Airways shot up 50 to 2.20, and held 25 cents of the advance. Nipissing Gold was off 5 to 2.30. Base Metals received only scant attention.

WHEAT PRICES DIP FRACTIONS

Light Export and Weakness at Outside Markets Send Values Down

WINNIPEG, Feb. 20 (CP).—In line with general downward revision of prices on world grain markets, wheat prices on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange closed with net 5-8 to 1-2 cent losses today, May at 82 7-8 and July 82 1-4 cents.

Some hedging and profit-taking proved too much for the meagre support to absorb, and values were weak from the opening. Export sales of Canadian wheat were few.

Weakness at Liverpool, where prices closed 1d to 7-8d lower, encouraged the selling here. Chicago closed with net 1 3-8 cent declines. Buenos Aires also was off fractionally.

Cash grains were more active than for some time, and coarse grains emulated wheat's action.

Losses and Gains at Eastern Exchanges Well Distributed

MONTREAL, Feb. 20 (CP).—Listings on the Montreal Stock Exchange today showed a somewhat mixed trend. Gains and losses were about evenly divided at the close.

Selected stocks were the main points of interest. Dominion Coal soared five points to 139, and Alberta Grain preferred 1 1-2 points at 23 1-2. International Power & Paper preferred lost 2 1-8 points at 8 3-4.

In the general list, C.P.R. lost 1-4 at 12, and Nickel 3-8 at 23 1-4, while Hollinger eased 20 cents at 18.75.

TORONTO EXCHANGE

TORONTO, Feb. 20 (CP).—Late settling at Toronto sent industrial issues on the Toronto Stock Exchange into low ground today. Steels proved the lone exception.

National Steel Car gained 5-8, and the Canadian Car & Foundry stocks 1-4 to 1-2. Others in the group added fractions. Ford, C.P.R., Brazilian, Nickel, the liquor shares, eased down 1-8 to 1-2 each.

Weakness of the bank group was in evidence and fractional losses came out in the construction and food issues.

MOVING PICTURES OF OIL DRILLING

Operations in Search of Liquid Gold to Be Depicted on Screen Today

Great interest is being taken in the drilling operations of the Columbia Oils, Limited, in the Flathead Valley, situated in the southeastern corner of British Columbia.

Moving pictures showing flows of oil from one of the old wells, together with films of the present drilling operations, are being shown by representatives of the company at 225 Pemberton Building, starting today. These pictures have been running in Vancouver for the past three weeks and, complying with requests received from citizens of Victoria, arrangements were made to have them run here for a short time.

STRIKE EXPECTED SOON

The early realization of commercial crude oil production in the Flathead area is expected. Since the powerful Doheny - Stone diamond drilling equipment was put into operation, excellent footage is being made daily. The latest report shows the well at a depth of 2,305 feet. According to reports by Dr. A. O. Olsson, geologist and paleontologist of Gloversville, N.Y., Columbia is nearing the productive horizon. Dr. Olsson, formerly with the Sinclair Oil Company, and the International Petroleum Company, with wide experience in all parts of the United States, Panama, Costa Rica, Peru, Colombia, and Ecuador, has made an exhaustive study of the Flathead field.

Dr. Olsson's last visit to the field was made last Summer. He was accompanied by Dr. Casler, of Cornell University, and as the result of this visit, it was decided to change over from standard drilling equipment to the Doheny-Stone "Hydril."

STARTED IN DECEMBER

It was late in December before this equipment was installed and operating.

So far as geologists are able to determine the oil horizon, in what is locally known as the Fernie shales, lies at a depth of 2,700 feet from the surface.

George W. Brake, managing director, who is personally in charge of the Columbia drilling programme, was formerly general manager of the International Petroleum Company.

The following prominent Vancouver business and professional men are the directors of Columbia Oils, Limited: D. S. Walbridge, president; A. J. Hendry, vice-president; W. A. Sutton, secretary-treasurer; G. W. Brake, managing director; O. C. Thompson, M.E.; W. S. Day, F. E. Burke, R. L. Reid, K.C.

HAVING CONFIDENCE THAT THE PURCHASE OF SHARES IN THE Ymir Consolidated Gold Mines, Limited
(Gold and Silver) @ 25c
WILL BE PROFITABLE, OUR BOARD OF DIRECTORS HAS AUTHORIZED THE SALE OF THE STOCK THROUGH OUR OFFICE

We summarize the results of twelve days of extensive investigation as follows:

We believe:

FIRST— That the money paid for the stock is protected by four times the amount in ore ready to be taken out of the Shipping Mines.

SECOND— That you can have the utmost confidence in the Board of Directors and the Mine Management.

THIRD— That all evidence points to an operation ultimately of from 500 to 800 tons per day. (One of the Mines was the second largest shipper of ore in British Columbia to the Trail Smelter in 1934, the other is reported to have been the largest gold producer in the British Empire prior to 1900).

FOURTH— That the cost of production will be very low.

FIFTH— That the gold-bearing veins are wide: Sidney Norman—"In an experience covering forty years, I have not seen a gold-bearing vein as persistent and wide except possibly Lake Shore, Kirkland Lake." (Lake Shore, 2,000,000 shares, market value $53¼ per share).

SIXTH— That the stock should be selling at from two to three times its present offering price and that the market will better reflect the stock's value on or before the mill is installed. That the stock cannot be valued at less than its present offering price.

SEVENTH— That earnings will be large from the inception of the mill and dividends of 10 cents in prospect within sixteen months from this date, with future earnings warranting dividends per annum equal to its purchase price. That we can subscribe to the opinion given in a brokers' advertisement setting out 40 to 50 cents per share by way of dividends in three years' time.

EIGHTH— That you are purchasing Treasury Stock.

NINTH— That you can place money in this Industry with confidence through the medium of this stock by using the proceeds from the sale of securities in other industries not so favorably situated as to profits from operations (Copper stocks, Paper stocks, etc., etc.)

We Therefore Advise the Purchase for an Income Investment (Not a Trading Profit) and in Our Opinion Substantial Capital Appreciation.

We Offer to Those Who Call or Telephone for an Appointment the Evidence on Which We Base Our Advice.

"IOU"

Quite unnecessary is it to interpret these famous three letters, known in every strata of society wherever English is read or spoken.

As a written acknowledgement of a debt, the letters of course are a contraction of the words "I owe you" and as such the phrase has been in our language for many centuries.

Just who the first abbreviator was cannot be ventured with complete certainty. One of its earliest appearances in literature, however, is in Breton's Court and Countryman, published in 1618.

German Protestant missions abroad are threatened with ruin as a result of the Reichsbank's foreign exchange policy, is stated from Berlin. In receipt of 500,000 marks monthly, the German Evangelical Society, representing the Established Protestant Church, is able under the present arrangement of exchange to send only about 150,000 marks to their mission stations each month.

FOLLIES GIRL

by Margaret Gorman Nichols

INSTALLMENT XXVIII

"What's wrong?" Sherry asked.

"Stuck," Jim replied. "I had to get over to the side to let a truck pass and I can't get it clear."

"Where are we?" she asked, looking out and seeing only a little group of dark buildings outlined in the snow.

"Some hick town," Jim said.

He gave the car all the power of the giant motor but the rear wheels merely spun, throwing the snow high.

"I should have taken a train, as you suggested," Sherry said, feeling very cold. "But there must be a hotel around here somewhere."

"I don't see any lights."

"There's a garage over there," she said, "and a house next to it. You'll have to awaken the family and find out where we are and where we can find a hotel."

Sherry saw Jim bow to the wind as he walked across the road through the piling snows. She waited, nervous, taut, and cold. Oh, this was a ridiculous thing! How would she get to the theatre for the first show tomorrow? If the snow kept up, there was no telling when she would get away and even telephone communication might be impossible.

She saw a light switch on in the little house and then heard the voices of men. Presently Jim came back.

"There's a hotel about a quarter of a mile farther on in the town. The garage man says for us to walk and he'll get the car out in the morning."

Sherry looked down the long white road. "All right. I'll take just one small bag. Lock the car. We'll have to leave the rest."

Sherry stepped out, going to her knees in the drifted snow. She buried her chin in the collar of her raccoon coat and it seemed hours before they came to the town and finally stamped up the steps of the hotel.

A night clerk nodded and looked up startled at the girl in the fur coat, covered with snow from head to foot, and the middle-aged man in a chauffeur's uniform. The lobby was deserted, but the heat from a coal stove made it look less shabby.

Sherry sought the stove while Jim was registering. The clerk opened sleepy eyes with interest at the name, "Sherry Ross, New York City," written across the register. He then led them upstairs, and at last she found herself alone, stranded, in a bedroom which reminded her of her own room in Virginia.

When she awoke the next morning, the room was warm. She dressed in a brown woolen dress and went downstairs. It was about 9 o'clock and there were several serious rather hawk-faced men in the lobby, smoking. Sherry looked at them a little puzzled and they eyed her suspiciously. A beautiful girl dressed in an imported frock in a third-rate hotel was indeed sufficient to arouse suspicion.

As the men continued to follow her movements, she turned to the hotel clerk, frowning, and asked, "Who are those men?"

"They are detectives, Miss," he answered. "There's been a murder in this town!"

"Murder?" Sherry asked.

The young clerk nodded, trying to appear taciturn, yet secretly delighted to tell the tale.

"They found a woman murdered, a woman who kept a boarding-house, and one of the roomers has skipped. He robbed her and choked her."

Sherry shruddered, but her plight was uppermost in her mind. "I hope all the wires aren't down," she said. "I simply must make a long-distance call."

"I'm afraid you can't, Miss Ross. The lines are all down and all trains are held up by snowdrifts. We won't have another train before tomorrow."

She had despairing thoughts of a crowded theatre, where people waited who had paid their good money to hear her sing, of an irate manager who would probably shout, "But why did you attempt to make it in an automobile?" And the only answer she could give would be a hopelessly stupid one: "I thought I could make it."

"Well, I don't suppose there is anything I can do," she said. "Send a waiter to my room about my breakfast and let me know if the murderer is found."

"They won't find that bird! He was too slick. He came here several months ago, looking for work, and, Mrs. Slattery—that's the woman he killed—took him in. He was a good-looking Easterner. You can just bet he's slipped out of town. He was a smart one, all right."

Sherry stared, shuddered, trying to smother the thought that came to her mind: Tony? No, no! It couldn't be!

She asked in a strange, strained voice, "What was his name?"

"Paul Smith," said the young man. "Or rather that's what he called himself, but it was no more his name than it is mine. He was an educated Easterner, gone broke. He said the depression got him."

She turned away and said, "Send a waiter to my room."

When she reached her room, she felt ill and weak. She sank into a chair and passed her hand over her face. No! No! It can't be. This can't happen to me! But the description fit well — too well. But Tony would not do such a thing! He could not!

Sherry ate her breakfast with no appetite. A sudden knock on the door made her heart pound. It was Jim.

"Have you heard about the murder, Miss Ross? The lobby is full of detectives and newspapermen. Well, I'm going down and see about the car."

"Bring my baggage. It looks as though we're going to be here for some time."

She was desperate and felt not only stranded but trapped. Innocently she had walked into this trap herself. A coincidence almost too strange to be true had guided her here. No one would believe her coming accidental.

She paced the narrow room, glancing now and then outside. It was still snowing but the flakes were finer. Downstairs in the lobby she could hear much activity.

The morning passed slowly. At lunch time she went downstairs to the main dining-room. She could see several men in the lobby hovering near the fire, talking seriously. Suddenly she looked up over the typewritten menu card and saw a strange man standing over her.

"I'm Tow Evans, a reporter," he said, "and I'm more interested in what Sherry Ross is doing in this God-forsaken place than I am in this murder."

Sherry collected her wits and summoned her courage.

"Will anything I say be held against me?" she smiled. "Won't you sit down, Mr. Evans? Have you had lunch?"

"Delighted!"

"I'm here," said Sherry, giving the order to the waiter, "because my car got stuck in the snow last night. And I find myself in the midst of an intriguing murder. Tell me what it's all about."

He told much the same story as the hotel clerk.

"He can't get far," said Tom Evans, "not in this snow. I got into this town an hour ago on a grocery truck."

"They're sure he did it?"

"It's a clear case."

"You think that Paul Smith sounds fictitious!"

"No doubt of it. Look here," he said, "I'm not interested in that," eating and talking at the same time. "They'll bring him back today, scared and frozen, poor devil. But is it true that you're going to Hollywood to make pictures and marry Eric Cowles?"

"I may go to Hollywood, but not to marry Eric Cowles."

"Okay."

"I'm going to my room," said Sherry, after several minutes of silence. "If anything happens, let me know."

"You seem interested."

"I am."

He laughed. "Sherry Ross and a new murder hit this town in one day. It's too much!" and walked with her to the stairs. "Thanks for the lunch."

The endless afternoon passed and still that thumping of heavy shoes continued downstairs. Jim returned with Sherry's trunk. She bathed in the old-fashioned bathtub, and dressed again, this time in a black silk dress. She was grateful that Frances wasn't here to notice her nervousness, and she closed her mind to the thought of that theatre which had billed her a week in advance. What did it matter when at any moment they might bring Tony back, "scared and frozen, poor devil!"

When she went down to dinner, the lobby was deserted. Sherry asked the hotel clerk what had happened. "A new batch of newspaper men," he replied, "just arrived and they've all gone over to the boarding-house."

Sherry, with the exception of two traveling salesmen and an elderly lady, was the only person in the dining-room. She could not eat with this increasing fear in her heart. "It is disloyal to think of it. Tony would never do such a thing. He isn't cruel. I know it is not he!"

She went to her room again, pulled the chintz-covered chair near the window, and looked out on the snowy scene. The little amber-colored lamp on the old-fashioned dressing-table was the only light. The room was warm and the little clock, like a friendly, familiar voice in a wilderness of loneliness and despair, ticked loudly.

The door opened so softly that she did not hear it. Rather, it was the feeling that some one shared the silence, that made her turn.

Jane Dixon Says:

CURIOSITY ABOUT PAST LOVE AFFAIRS OFTEN LEADS TO ILL-FEELING

It is human nature to be curious about the affections, the love affairs of the one we love, previous to the time we entered the scene. It is the grossest impertinence to demand an accounting of such experiences.

Those of us who are wist in the ways of love allow the dead past to bury its dead. We are content to know that all is well in the present, that the future is bright with promise.

YOUNG MAN'S SUSPICIONS UNWORTHY OF HIM

Dear Miss Dixon: What do you think of a fellow who always asks his girl about the boys she knew in the past and about her behavior with them?

I am a self-respecting girl and am very much hurt when the boy I care for questions me in this way. From all reports he is a "one woman man," and I suppose he expects me to be the same. I have had nice boys for friends before I became seriously interested in this one. Will you please suggest what I should do?—Always Questioned.

Answer: Explain to the young man that the boys you knew were friends and nothing more, that you have ceased to be interested in them, and that you prefer not to discuss them. Suspicion is unworthy and should not be encouraged. If he persists, remind him that you are a self-respecting girl, and that you will not answer questions which wound your pride and reflect on your character.

TELL SUITOR THE TRUTH

Jane Dixon: I am a woman of thirty. I have had one unhappy marriage and one unhappy love affair. I never really knew what love was until a year ago, when I met a man two years older than myself. I knew at once he was my ideal man, and he says he felt the same way about me.

Everything went along like a dream until some kind (?) friends told him about my former misfortunes. I should have told him myself, but somehow I just couldn't. There is nothing in either my marriage or in the love affair that was broken off by mutual consent, that can not be told without any discredit to me.

However, I fear the kind (?) friends have embroidered the story with gossip and surmising until very little of the truth of it remains. Suddenly his attitude toward me changed entirely. He loves me I'm sure, but he does not show me the respect he should, and he fights against loving me. One time he will be gentle and affectionate, and the next time he will be bitter, indifferent and almost insulting. He has hinted that he "knows all about my past."

I am afraid if I do tell him the true story he will not believe it, and then there will be nothing for me to do but to stop seeing him altogether. Shall I risk losing him?—In Love.

Answer: You appear to be losing him without taking any risk, so there could be no loss in telling him your story. However, if he is a young man with a reasoning mind and a kind heart he will discover, by your conduct, that he has been misinformed by his kind (?) friends. If I were you I would let him make that discovery.

PROTEST NO MORE

Dear Miss Dixon: What can I do? I am married to a man I love but he is driving me to distraction with his rancor against another man to whom I was engaged when I met him. I broke the engagement and the man left town. Now he has returned and has taken up his residence here. He is married to a fine girl and we go in the same set. We are bound to meet socially. There is no reason why we should not meet and be cordial to one another.

With the return of the man my husband became suspicious of how much this man might have meant to me. He asks me the most absurd questions about my engagement and lately he has not only been absurd but he is downright ugly. I've told him everything there is to tell. What more can I do?—Distracted.

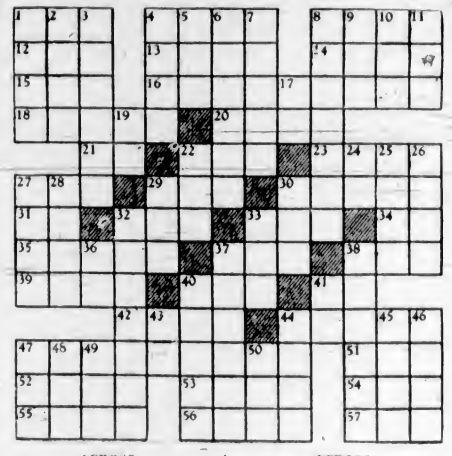

Answer: Stop explaining. If you don't, your husband is liable to say: "Methinks the lady doth protest too much." Give your husband to understand in no weak terms that you have told him all there is, there isn't any more. If he persists in making himself ridiculous and unhappy, just you be calm and smiling and perhaps you can shame him out of his unjust suspicions. Try this recipe and let me know how it works.

Dear Miss Dixon: A girl in whom I am interested pestered me so much about my past with other girls that I finally made up a lot of stuff thinking it would keep her quiet. My plan didn't work. All she does is beg for more. Shall I tell her I was only fooling?—Sam G.

Answer: By all means let her have the truth. You will spoil her fun, she apparently loves her misery, but if you are seriously interested you will save yourself untold trouble by cleaning your slate.

That Body of Yours

(By James W. Barton, M.D.)

MEAT AND POTATOES CAN BE EATEN TOGETHER WHETHER YOU ARE SICK OR WELL

"People have come to me with the ridiculous but apparently plausible theory that meat and egg, proteids; and potatoes and bread, starches; don't agree in the stomach, and I knew well from studies covering eight years that this could not be true. They came back with the statement, 'Well, that may not be true regarding a normal individual, but it is true regarding a sick person.'

"I knew of no place where I could go for exact information regarding the subject, and I made up my mind that the only way to get the information was to get it myself. It took me a year to get the figures and a week and a half to complete them, but these figures are the figures as they actually occurred in the ward patients of the Jefferson Hospital, and there is no evidence that even in these sick people with all manner of ailments that proteids and starches are not as easily digested together as when taken separately."

I am quoting from Dr. Martin E. Rehfuss, Clinical Professor of Medicine, Jefferson Medical College of Philadelphia, in journal of the American Medical Association. During the years 1914 to 1920, Dr. Rehfuss and his co-worker, Dr. Hawk, made 1,000 studies in 200 normal men. They found that there were three types of digestion—rapid, slow and medium—and that the rate of digestion was the same for the same individual whether meats were eaten alone, potatoes alone, or if meat and potatoes were eaten together.

What about sick people? Are sick people able to eat potatoes and meats, starches and proteids, together? Yes. In fifty sick individuals with ailments such as inflammation of the kidneys, inflammation of the gall bladder, asthma, angina pectoris, and acute illnesses such as rheumatic fever and pneumonia, meat alone took 3 hours and 31 minutes on an average to digest, and meat and potatoes together took 3 hours and 54 minutes.

I believe these figures from a professor of medicine taken from the wards of a famous hospital clearly show that well or sick, whether eating meat or potatoes alone or together makes no difference in digestion time in the same individual.

Professor Rehfuss finally states: "There is no evidence either in the literature or in my investigations to lead me to believe that proteins and carbohydrates are incompatible in the stomach. Such a teaching can lead to serious malnutrition, as well as lighting up of tuberculosis and old infections."
